CHECK 'RACKET' BROKEN UP BY LONDON ARREST

Lancaster Man, 47, Nabbed After "Fleeing" Many Ohio Banks

CITIES FILE CHARGES Same Scheme Used To Gain Money From Various Institutions

Working on an intricate check passing scheme throughout half dozen cities in Ohio, one of them Circleville, Carl Fishbaugh, 47, Lancaster, captured Saturday in the London Central National Bank by sheriff's officers, was being held Tuesday pending further investigation.

Deputy Sheriff Earl Weaver and Police Chief William McCrady returned from London Monday where they questioned Fishbaugh, alleged to have passed an $855.41 certified check at the First National Bank here.

Fishbaugh appeared in Circleville in November, posed as a feed company official, and attempted to rent office space from a local real estate agent. At the First National Bank he presented the $855.41 check, deposited all but $25 of it and then left town. Charges have been filed against him by the bank.

Wanted in Other Cities

Besides being wanted by Circleville authorities, Fishbaugh has charges filed against him by banks and other financial institutions in Newark, Granville, Marion, Kenton, West Jefferson, Zanesville, Canal Winchester, and several places in Columbus.

His promotion story in nearly every city was similar to the one he worked in Circleville. At Granville he told First National Bank authorities that he was a graduate of Denison University, claimed he had recently sold a restaurant in Circleville, and wished to deposit some money. He presented bank employees with a certified check, signed W. E. Duncan and certified J. W. Watson, in the amount of $1,287.94, deposited $1,200 in a savings account and drew out $87.94 in cash.

He appeared in West Jefferson last Friday, deposited a certified check for $1,094 at the West Jefferson Building and Loan Company, and drew $94 on it. London authorities had word that he would appear there Saturday, and arrested him as he attempted to cash a $1,094 check with the Central National Bank of London.

Released in June

Fishbaugh was released from Ohio State Penitentiary in June, where he served time on bad check charges, Deputy Sheriff Weaver said.

As F.D.R. Asked Congress for New Defense Billions

PRESIDENT Roosevelt is pictured (foreground) as he addressed a joint session of the 77th congress and reiterated his warning that American security is in unprecedented jeopardy from aggressor nations abroad and that new billions of dollars must be provided for defense. In the background are Vice President John Garner, right, and House Speaker Sam Rayburn.

President's Address Receives Much Backing; Budget Message May Reveal Extent Of Aid

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7—President Roosevelt today put the finishing touches on his budget message, convinced that the American people fully support his avowed policy of committing the United States to the British cause against the dictators, regardless of cost or consequences.

Intimates pictured the President as thoroughly satisfied with popular and congressional reaction to his unprecedented pledge of "all out" aid to embattled democracies even if it provokes the dictators into declaring war on the United States.

The President achieved three distinct purposes in his last two addresses—the fireside chat of December 29 and his historic third term speech to congress yesterday. These purposes were:

1. To lift the morale of democratic peoples everywhere by forcefully predicting ultimate defeat of the dictators — as voiced first in the fireside chat and repeated in his address to congress.

2. To warn the dictators that the United States will be turned into an arsenal for the democracies, even if it means war—as he told congress.

3. To inform the American people that they must be prepared for grave personal sacrifices if they wish to preserve democracy in this continent and to warn "slackers" they can expect little mercy from the government — as he told congress.

The President achieved one more goal—whether he desired it or not. It is the deep-rooted conviction on Capitol Hill, as well as in diplomatic circles, that he has committed the United States to the British cause, even if it means carrying the nation into war against the dictators. Whatever his purpose, congressmen generally believe the government is "in it now"—in an "undeclared war" against the dictators.

There was overwhelming approval of his "aid democracy" speech among senators and representatives, though a few expressed fears of a dictatorship in the United States. Others made some reservations, while awaiting (Continued on Page Two)

Philip Young, treasury official in charge of foreign aircraft priorities, said he knew of no transfers of aircraft to the Greeks. Presidential Secretary Stephen Early also said he had no knowledge of any transfer. Similarly, the report was termed untrue at the State Department.

SEN. BOYD TAKES LEAD TO OBTAIN END OF DISPUTE

COLUMBUS, Jan. 7—Bowling to the Republican majority in the senate, Minority Leader William M. Boyd, Cleveland, today made a plea for harmony in the upper house, urging fellow Democrats to approve committee assignments.

With only a few dissenting voice votes, the report assigning members to 21 standing senate committees was accepted. Last night Boyd accused the Republicans of using "Nazi tactics" to obtain control of all committees. Action on assignments was deferred at last night's session because of the controversy. In the interim Republicans added the names of a few more Democrats to committees to appease the minority.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 7—Despondent over ill health and a recent divorce, Mrs. Dorothy Ann Bordagaray, 22, former wife of Stanley "Frenchy" Bordagaray, outfielder for the Kansas City Blues baseball team, today slashed her wrists in a suicide attempt, according to Cincinnati police. A blood-stained note found beside the unconscious woman said, "Not sorry. Hope everything turns out better than last time. I may go to my dear daddy." In Bethesda Hospital her condition was reported as "fair" although she was suffering from loss of blood. The Bordagarays have two children. He formerly was an outfielder for the world champion Cincinnati Reds.

Italians Irked, As London Expresses Joy Following Address

LONDON, Jan. 7—While newspapers sang its praises, authoritative British quarters today hailed President Roosevelt's message to congress as an "inspiration to the people and leaders of Britain." They declared it meant Britain can pursue the struggle fully confident that no shortage in war materials will delay or hamper British efforts to attain victory. Once again it was noted with deep satisfaction in London that President Roosevelt reiterated his complete rejection of any possible acquiescence in a peace dictated by aggressors.

BERLIN, Jan. 7—President Roosevelt's message to congress produced no changes in the international situation "beyond illustrating his determination to use every means to stampede the American mind into the war," informed Berlin quarters commented today.

They also charged that the President's speech showed he was determined to "terrorize all opposition by his threat to apply the big stick or brand his political foes as traitors."

It was expected that Mr. Roosevelt's speech later would draw the fire of both the German press and government quarters in sharp, outspoken terms, but so far no official comment was available. It was asserted that atmospheric disturbances delayed receipt of the complete text of the President's remarks.

But while official circles held back their comment, there was no such reticence among informed Berlin circles.

NAZIS ANNOUNCE, ITALIANS DENY AXIS DISCUSSION

ROME, Jan. 7—Italian officials today branded "absolutely untrue" reports from Berlin of a meeting between German and Italian authorities in Rome today.

BERLIN, Jan. 7—An Italo-German military conference which may be a prelude to a joint offensive in the eastern Mediterranean basin, will be held in Rome today, according to reports in Berlin.

While secrecy surrounded plans for the conference, it was understood the talks will be held on the basis of the recent Innsbruck meeting of the Italian general staff and Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German supreme command.

Fred Fitzpatrick Gives Up Job On Police Force

Patrolman Fred Fitzpatrick, 347 East Main Street, a member of the Circleville police force for 22 years, was granted a disability pension by the police pension board at its meeting Monday night. The ruling will become effective February 1.

With the exception of Police Chief William McCrady he has been with the force longer than any other officer.

While a member of the police department, Patrolman Fitzpatrick has served in almost every capacity. He has worked as a traffic officer, was on night duty for 15 years and day duty for seven. He has assisted with many of the department's major arrests. During his 22 years as a police officer he has never been suspended or called "on the carpet."

Death Probed

AMY JOHNSON

LONDON, Jan. 7—An official investigation was begun today into circumstances of the death of Amy Johnson, Britain's most famous aviatrix, who lost her life when a transport plane she was "ferrying" crashed into the Thames Estuary. Despite a formal statement that Miss Johnson's plane crashed up when she lost her bearings, her sister pilots in the Royal Air Force auxiliary corps believed to believe such a thing possible. Miss Johnson's body has not been recovered.

European Bulletins

LONDON—A sharp decrease in shipping losses resulting from enemy action was announced by the British admiralty today. Mercantile losses during the week ending December 30 amounted to only three British ships totalling 18,203 tons and four allied vessels aggregating 19,348 tons, a common cause stated.

SOPIA—The Bulgarian government today denied a foreign report that Germany has presented and Bulgaria accepted an ultimatum demanding right of transit across Bulgarian territory for German troops. It was pointed out major troop movements are impossible at present in the eastern Balkans owing to ice in the Danube River and heavy snows which are delaying trains as much as ten hours.

LONDON—William Phillips, United States ambassador to Rome, has arrived in Lisbon, Portugal, en route back to his post from a visit to the United States, an Exchange Telegraph dispatch reported today. The report said Phillips will depart for Rome tomorrow via Madrid.

ROME—The Italian Council of Ministers in an order-of-the-day praised the nation's armed forces for "fighting against Britain on (Continued on Page Two)

ADMIRAL WARNS JAPAN TO GIRD FOR U. S. CLASH

TOKYO, Jan. 7—Japan should begin preparing for an attack by the United States, Admiral Kato Nakamura warned today. Writing a review of the military situation in the Pacific in the Hochi Shimbun, Admiral Nakamura counselled against evading American pressure.

Failure to stand up to the United States, he said, would give America "an opportunity to further extend her sphere of power."

Such a move by the United States would make a collision between the two countries "inevitable," he declared. "If the United States should believe they are able to do what they like with Japan, then it must be stated most emphatically that they are mistaken," he asserted.

"Japan would never yield a step since the new order in eastern Asia is a question of life and death for Japan."

Nazi Bomb Kills Seven Radio Men

B. B. C.'s Headquarters In London Hit, But Workers Remain At Posts

LONDON, Jan. 7—Caught helpless at their microphones, desks and control boards, seven radio experts were killed and a large number injured when two heavy bombs badly damaged the huge headquarters of the British Broadcasting Company in London's west end, it was learned today.

The injured included Fred Bate, National Broadcasting Company representative in London, whose voice is well-known to American radio listeners. A hero of the attack was Bruce Beifrage, who was reading a news broadcast when the first bomb struck and continued calmly with his script after shouting "it's all right" into the microphone above the roar of the explosion.

The B. B. C. made no attempt to minimize the damage and casualties, but emphasized that it carried on throughout the raid and afterward, despite the loss of walls, windows and ceilings in the gigantic circular building that overlooks fashionable Portland Place and Langham Square.

Others Casualties Together with belated announcement of the London raid, B. B. C. let it be known that a number of casualties have occurred among members of its staff in various parts of the country.

Like press associations and newspapers, the B. B. C. has sent crews out to heavily bombed areas and scenes of action throughout the British Isles and even the empire. Details of these casualties were not announced beyond announcement that B. B. C. men and perhaps women had been injured "here and there."

The attack on the London headquarters, which is the pivotal point of a radio network extending throughout the world and which carries British news and propaganda to the four corners of the earth, had all the elements of a motion picture drama.

TWO ARMIES PUT IN CLAIMS FOR ELYRIA YOUTH, 24

ELYRIA, O., Jan. 7—Richard Daly, 24, the man who is being claimed by two armies, was scheduled for a conference today with Brig. Gen. Gilson D. Light, state selective service director, at Columbus.

Daly, on furlough from the Canadian Kent regiment, which he joined last August 7, complied with the Selective Service law by registering when he returned to Elyria for Christmas. He received a low order number, making him subject to the January 31 call.

The Elyria Draft Board decided it had no authority to release him from that call, and the commanding officer of Daly's regiment in Canada said he had no authority to discharge him from the Canadian army, according to draft board officials.

Daly was advised by the board to confer with Light for a ruling on his predicament and he left for the state capital.

Should Daly fail to return to the Canadian regiment when his furlough is up he would face a charge of being a deserter. He said his leave would not expire for a few days.

14 PERSONS HURT WHEN FREIGHT HITS PASSENGER

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 7—Fourteen persons were injured today when a New York, New Haven and Hartford freight train plowed into the rear of an express and mail train standing in the Hartford station.

Four of the injured required hospital treatment, the rest being shaken up by the impact of the collision. With the exception of John Aitkin, 61, of Hartford, who was a passenger, the injured were six mail employees, two express employees and two railroad employees.

Enough Food Captured To Feed Fascist Prisoners Many Months

BARDIA, Jan. 7—The first vital defense point of Tobruk fell into the hands of swiftly advancing British forces today with the capture of Eladem airport, previously evacuated by the Italians after a terrific hammering by RAF planes.

Fruits of the smashing new British offensive westward from Bardia became known with official announcement that forty Italian planes stationed at Eladem and rendered unserviceable by RAF bombs had been captured by the British.

CAIRO, Jan. 7—Operations toward Tobruk are "proceeding satisfactorily," the British high command in Cairo announced today.

East of Gallabat, it was said, British patrols again inflicted casualties on the enemy. There is no chance in the situation on the Kenya border.

LONDON, Jan. 7—Revealing a British move against Tobruk, 70 miles west of Bardia, authorities London quarters today estimated that since December 9 the British forces in Libya have destroyed or captured a total of 94,000 Italian armed soldiers.

By Desmond Tighe

BARDIA, Jan. 7—A smashing new British offensive across the desert Libyan wastes west of fallen Bardia developed today as British light tanks and armored cars hammered the outer defenses of Tobruk, 70 miles from this captured stronghold.

Simultaneously British bombers hammered both Tobruk and Tripoli, the seaport capital of Libya. So great were the fires started by bombing attacks on Tobruk that their red glare could be seen from Bardia.

The new British offensive threatened to out-flank and encircle Tobruk and thrust against Benghazi, 140 miles further west. Authorities revealed that only a few hours after Bardia and some 30,000 Italian troops were captured, British forces reached the Tobruk area, where the Italians have strengthened their fortifications.

These defenses are believed to consist of two long, strong lines in a semi-circle around the port of Tobruk—the biggest and best (Continued on Page Two)

REICH DECLARES BRITISH BOMBS FOUND IN EIRE

BERLIN, Jan. 7—The bombs which caused damage and casualties in Dublin undoubtedly were of British origin, authoritative German quarters charged today.

An official statement said: "The Reich government has scrupulously endeavored to establish whether a German plane violated Irish territory by mistake owing to weather conditions.

"All necessary inquiries have been made to that effect. "The investigation is not yet closed, but it is already established that there was no question of German bombings over Dublin on the night between the second and third of January.

"The contrary must be suspected, as in the Athens case; that British bombings took place with provocative intentions along the line of well-known Churchill methods.

"The Irish government yesterday took steps and presented details of the incident to the Reich government. These are still being examined."

TWO ARMIES PUT IN CLAIMS FOR ELYRIA YOUTH, 24

ELYRIA, O., Jan. 7—Richard Daly, 24, the man who is being claimed by two armies, was scheduled for a conference today with Brig. Gen. Gilson D. Light, state selective service director, at Columbus.

Daly, on furlough from the Canadian Kent regiment, which he joined last August 7, complied with the Selective Service law by registering when he returned to Elyria for Christmas. He received a low order number, making him subject to the January 31 call.

The Elyria Draft Board decided it had no authority to release him from that call, and the commanding officer of Daly's regiment in Canada said he had no authority to discharge him from the Canadian army, according to draft board officials.

Daly was advised by the board to confer with Light for a ruling on his predicament and he left for the state capital.

Should Daly fail to return to the Canadian regiment when his furlough is up he would face a charge of being a deserter. He said his leave would not expire for a few days.

14 PERSONS HURT WHEN FREIGHT HITS PASSENGER

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 7—Fourteen persons were injured today when a New York, New Haven and Hartford freight train plowed into the rear of an express and mail train standing in the Hartford station.

Four of the injured required hospital treatment, the rest being shaken up by the impact of the collision. With the exception of John Aitkin, 61, of Hartford, who was a passenger, the injured were six mail employees, two express employees and two railroad employees.

The investigation is not yet closed, but it is already established that there was no question of German bombings over Dublin on the night between the second and third of January.

"The contrary must be suspected, as in the Athens case; that British bombings took place with provocative intentions along the line of well-known Churchill methods."

"The Irish government yesterday took steps and presented details of the incident to the Reich government. These are still being examined."

Enough Food Captured To Feed Fascist Prisoners Many Months

BARDIA, Jan. 7—The first vital defense point of Tobruk fell into the hands of swiftly advancing British forces today with the capture of Eladem airport, previously evacuated by the Italians after a terrific hammering by RAF planes.

Fruits of the smashing new British offensive westward from Bardia became known with official announcement that forty Italian planes stationed at Eladem and rendered unserviceable by RAF bombs had been captured by the British.

CAIRO, Jan. 7—Operations toward Tobruk are "proceeding satisfactorily," the British high command in Cairo announced today.

East of Gallabat, it was said, British patrols again inflicted casualties on the enemy. There is no chance in the situation on the Kenya border.

LONDON, Jan. 7—Revealing a British move against Tobruk, 70 miles west of Bardia, authorities in London quarters today estimated that since December 9 the British forces in Libya have destroyed or captured a total of 94,000 Italian armed soldiers.

BARDIA, Jan. 7—A smashing new British offensive across the desert Libyan wastes west of fallen Bardia developed today as British light tanks and armored cars hammered the outer defenses of Tobruk, 70 miles from this captured stronghold.

Simultaneously British bombers hammered both Tobruk and Tripoli, the seaport capital of Libya. So great were the fires started by bombing attacks on Tobruk that their red glare could be seen from Bardia.

The new British offensive threatened to out-flank and encircle Tobruk and thrust against Benghazi, 140 miles further west. Authorities revealed that only a few hours after Bardia and some 30,000 Italian troops were captured, British forces reached the Tobruk area, where the Italians have strengthened their fortifications.

These defenses are believed to consist of two long, strong lines in a semi-circle around the port of Tobruk—the biggest and best (Continued on Page Two)

REICH DECLARES BRITISH BOMBS FOUND IN EIRE

BERLIN, Jan. 7—The bombs which caused damage and casualties in Dublin undoubtedly were of British origin, authoritative German quarters charged today.

An official statement said: "The Reich government has scrupulously endeavored to establish whether a German plane violated Irish territory by mistake owing to weather conditions."

"All necessary inquiries have been made to that effect. The investigation is not yet closed, but it is already established that there was no question of German bombings over Dublin on the night between the second and third of January."

"The contrary must be suspected, as in the Athens case; that British bombings took place with provocative intentions along the line of well-known Churchill methods."

American president to "turn American attention away from his domestic failures by waving of the bogey of a Nazi invasion threat against the Western Hemisphere."

"That is pretty old stuff," these circles commented.

They also said they regarded as "coarse" the President's claim to be championing humanity and morality. During the World War, they contended the British blockade against Germany chiefly affected German women and children.

Regarding Mr. Roosevelt's statement that he would refuse to acquiesce in a dictated peace, these same German circles remarked:

"Don't worry. No one will ask him to. We intend to arrange that without Roosevelt."

German circles reiterated that President Roosevelt's plan for unlimited aid to Britain without open war is a "matter of divided opinion."

They said Germany's total blockade would "play no favorites" and that any American ships thrown into the whirlpool would meet their own doom just as quickly as any other ships in the blocked zone.

This would not require any new German war measures, it was asserted, German sources added:

"It is up to Roosevelt to stick his own neck into it. It will get hit but it will be his own responsibility, since the Reich, according to international law, will be fully justified in applying military measures in a blockade zone."

Relations "Theoretical"

German quarters reached the conclusion that President Roosevelt has clearly revealed that German-American relations are merely "theoretical."

They added that President Roosevelt now is practically "in the war" and claimed that he long ago steered America from the path of neutrality into non-belligerency, "and now is on the thin edge of belligerency."

ROME, Jan. 7.—President Roosevelt's message to congress "amounts to a voluntary declaration of ideological war" against the axis powers, Italian political circles charged today.

The influential newspaper Popolo Di Roma termed Mr. Roosevelt's address a "new explosion of theoretical hostility," adding:

"It brings up the question of what is restraining Roosevelt from declaring war against the axis."

"Roosevelt is conducting his country far beyond the point of non-belligerency."

"If a United States ship serving England should meet with legitimate armed sanctions from the axis powers, it would be sublime hypocrisy for Roosevelt to pretend it was an unprovoked aggression."

The newspaper Piccolo commented:

At an authoritative press conference, six impressions of Mr. Roosevelt's message as they prevail in Italian political circles were given out.

These six points are as follows:

harbor between Tunisia and Egypt.

Military Targets Hit

Similarly, the middle east RAF command announced that in the raid on Tripoli torrents of bombs fell and Italian warships and merchant vessels and started numerous fires ashore.

A communique stated several tons of explosives were dumped on the Tripoli power station, customs building, wharves and shipping during a night-long attack and that large fires, visible 30 miles out to sea, "continued burning fiercely throughout the attack."

Bombs burst on oil storage plants, the communique added, "while other bombs straddled merchant vessels and naval units in the harbor."

There were indications that Tobruk probably will be the next objective of the victorious British-Australian drive against Italian Marshal Rodolfo Graziani's harried legions. On the other hand, there was a possibility that the British may first flank and encircle Tobruk while driving further west against Benghazi.

It was revealed that since December 17 small British mechanized units have been darting in and out of the Tobruk area, sniping at the Italians, breaking up their formations and bothering them with "nuisance tactics."

Open Way for "Anesies"

Now, with the fall of Bardia accomplished, the reinforced mechanized units are going to work on the Italians in the west in real earnest to prepare the way for the hard-charging Australian shock troops.

The severe British air raids on Tobruk — similar to the raids which preceded the ground assault against Bardia — were interpreted as evidence that the British are determined to sweep Graziani's forces into the sea while they are still staggering from the blow they suffered at Bardia.

There were unconfirmed reports that units of British Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell's army already have begun a flanking movement around Tobruk under protection of armored car and tank detachments.

Some observers believed this force may have been in action even while the assault against Bardia was still progressing.

Surrender Or Die

It was pointed out there that Graziani can scarcely hope to carry out an evacuation from Tobruk such as the British managed at Dunkerque owing to his inadequate naval support. Thus, it was contended, he will be faced with the alternatives of surrender or fighting to the death.

Meanwhile, Bardia no longer presented a war-like scene. The triumphant British imperial forces were still busy counting and caring for their more than 30,000 Italian prisoners and great supplies of captured arms and ammunition.

Authorities revealed enough food was captured by the British to feed the Italian prisoners for several months without even touching British resources for this purpose.

The British naval monitor Teror and the gunboats Ladybird and Aphid, which took an important part in the shelling of Bardia, are now busy handling some of the Italian prisoners.

But it is expected that they and other units of the fleet soon will begin steaming westward to Tobruk to perform there the same tasks they carried out in "paving the way for the army" at Bardia.

ROME, Jan. 7.—Capture of Bardia by the British middle eastern forces was announced by the Italian high command today.

details of the plan to turn the United States into an arsenal to lend and lease armaments to the democracies.

The President will bare some of these details in his budget message. His advisers say that he will ask $10,000,000,000 for armaments, much of which is to go to the democracies. One authority estimated that the President's plans call for giving Britain around $7,000,000,000 of armaments if the war lasts long enough. Greece and China are also to benefit from the lend-lease plan.

There will be some opposition in congress to the President's program. The non-interventionists, to a man virtually, protested against Mr. Roosevelt's plea for unlimited, arbitrary power in handling both National Defense and aid to the democracies. Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, for instance, accused him of merging the two in the capture of Bardia, the Italian high command merely conceded that more strong points there had fallen and claimed heavy losses had been inflicted on the British.

(Today's communique constitutes the first official admission from Rome of the fall of Bardia.)

The Italian announcement said Bardia fell on the evening of January 5 (Sunday) and added that losses in dead, wounded and missing as well as in war materials were heavy.

For 25 days, the high command communique stated, "our troops have shown extreme courage and inflicted heavy losses on the enemy."

"Our losses in material and men, dead, wounded and missing, also were heavy."

Two British planes raiding Tobruk were shot down in flames by Italian naval coast artillery, the high command said.

On the Greek front, "by a lucky coup de main," Italian forces captured an important position and seized arms and ammunition abandoned by enemy troops, according to the communique. It added:

"We took some prisoners through a patrol skirmish which ended in our favor."

"Enemy planes attacked one of our bases. A (British) Blenheim machine was shot down by our anti-aircraft artillery. One of our chaser formations on a patrol flight encountered enemy machines, three of which were shot down."

"Other formations bombed an important objective despite unfavorable weather and all our planes returned."

In East Africa, the communique said, motorized enemy detachments were routed on the Sudan border by artillery fire.

Nazi Bomb Kills Seven Radio Men

don business houses, hotels and similar establishments, the B. B. C. makes a practise of sending "spotters" to the roof the moment that air raid alarm sounds. These watchers, equipped with tin helmets and oilskins against the London rain and fog, have portable telephones which are plugged into loudspeakers scattered at strategic points throughout the building.

The attack, like four hundred and more than had gone before, had been in progress for some minutes without any interruption in the 24-hour work of the B. B. C. when suddenly came the excited voice of a "spotter."

"Look out!" he shouted. "Here comes a big one."

And come it did. The next second a huge high explosive bomb struck a cornice at the fifth-floor level of the building, tearing a huge gash in the Portland Place side. The concussion itself, as well as falling walls and masonry, took the lives of the seven victims.

From then on, the warnings from the roof-top were more or less continuous. Many incendiary bombs were dropped after the first big one fell, starting blazes in the middle floors of the building which took six hours to extinguish.

None Sought Shelter

Perhaps the most significant thing about the whole incident was that no one bothered to seek the spacious and comparatively safe air raid shelters beneath the building. All stayed at their post, including B. E. Nicholls, the director of programs, whose job includes booking of dance bands and variety shows as well as supervision of news program.

Nicholls was among the casualties which occurred when a second huge bomb fell, exploding just outside the building and killing a policeman on duty outside the door.

He was one of many minor casualties inflicted in this second explosion. No less than 300 B. B. C. workers were at their posts, unbelievably calm and cool, at this time, despite the fact that raid had long been under way and emergency fire workers were rushing throughout the building with stirrup pumps and incendiary doublers to bring the many scattered blazes under control.

Broadcasting House has long been a favorite Nazi target because its importance in dissemination of British news and propaganda. A new building of entirely modern construction, it is one of the city's show-places.

3.—President Roosevelt failed to explain why democracy is useful internally but is not applicable to relations between poor and rich nations.

6.—Mr. Roosevelt's statement amounted to a "bellicose affirmation."

Such was the Italian view of the President's message as outlined to correspondents in Rome.

harbor between Tunisia and Egypt.

Military Targets Hit

British quarters said that the air attacks on Tobruk were aimed chiefly at naval barracks and other military targets and that these objectives "have suffered heavily."

Similarly, the middle east RAF command announced that in the raid on Tripoli torrents of bombs fell and Italian warships and merchant vessels and started numerous fires ashore.

A communique stated several tons of explosives were dumped on the Tripoli power station, customs building, wharves and shipping during a night-long attack and that large fires, visible 30 miles out to sea, "continued burning" fiercely throughout the attack.

Bombs burst on oil storage plants, the communique added, "while other bombs straddled merchant vessels and naval units in the harbor."

There were indications that Tobruk probably will be the next objective of the victorious British-Australian drive against Italian Marshal Rodolfo Graziani's harried legions. On the other hand, there was a possibility that the British may first flank and encircle Tobruk while driving further west against Benghazi.

It was revealed that since December 17 small British mechanized units have been darting in and out of the Tobruk area, sniping at the Italians, breaking up their formations and bothering them with "nuisance tactics."

Open Way for "Anesies" Now, with the fall of Bardia accomplished, the reinforced mechanized units are going to work on the Italians in the west in real earnest to prepare the way for the hard-charging Australian shock troops.

The severe British air raids on Tobruk — similar to the raids which preceded the ground assault against Bardia — were interpreted as evidence that the British are determined to sweep Graziani's forces into the sea while they are still staggering from the blow they suffered at Bardia.

There were unconfirmed reports that units of British Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell's army already have begun a flanking movement around Tobruk and protection of armored car and tank detachments.

Some observers believed this force may have been in action even while the assault against Bardia was still progressing.

Surrender Or Die It was pointed out there that Graziani can scarcely hope to carry out an evacuation from Tobruk such as the British managed at Dunkerque owing to his inadequate naval support. Thus, it was contended, he will be faced with the alternatives of surrender or fighting to the death.

Meanwhile, Bardia no longer presented a war-like scene. The triumphant British imperial forces were still busy counting and caring for their more than 30,000 Italian prisoners and great supplies of captured arms and ammunition.

Authorities revealed enough food was captured by the British to feed the Italian prisoners for several months without even touching British resources for this purpose.

The British naval monitor Terror and the gunboats Ladybird and Aphis, which took an important part in the shelling of Bardia, are now busy handling some of the Italian prisoners.

But it is expected that they and other units of the fleet soon will begin steaming westward to Tobruk to perform there the same tasks they carried out in "paving the way for the army" at Bardia.

ROME, Jan. 7.—Capture of Bardia by the British middle eastern forces was announced by the Italian high command today.

details of the plan to turn the United States into an arsenal to lend and lease armaments to the democracies.

The President will bare some of these details in his budget message. His advisers say that he will ask $10,000,000,000 for armaments, much of which is to go to the democracies. One authority estimated that the President's plans call for giving Britain around $7,000,000,000 of armaments if the war lasts long enough. Greece and China are also to benefit from the lend-lease plan.

There will be some opposition in congress to the President's program. The non-interventionists, to a man virtually, protested against Mr. Roosevelt's plea for unlimited, arbitrary power in handling both National Defense and aid to the democracies. Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, for instance, accused him of merging the two in the capture of Bardia, the Italian high command merely conceded that more strong points there had fallen and claimed heavy losses had been inflicted on the British.

(Today's communique constitutes the first official admission from Rome of the fall of Bardia.)

The Italian announcement said Bardia fell on the evening of January 5 (Sunday) and added that losses in dead, wounded and missing as well as in war materials were heavy.

For 25 days, the high command communique stated, "our troops have shown extreme courage and inflicted heavy losses on the enemy."

Two British planes raiding Tobruk were shot down in flames by Italian naval coast artillery, the high command said.

On the Greek front, "by a lucky coup de main," Italian forces captured an important position and seized arms and ammunition abandoned by enemy troops, according to the communique. It added:

"We took some prisoners through a patrol skirmish which ended in our favor."

"Enemy planes attacked one of our bases. A (British) Blenheim machine was shot down by our anti-aircraft artillery. One of our chaser formations on a patrol flight encountered enemy machines, three of which were shot down."

"Other formations bombed an important objective despite unfavorable weather and all our planes returned."

In East Africa, the communique said, motorized enemy detachments were routed on the Sudan border by artillery fire.

order to aid Britain even if his program weakened America's defense.

Sen. Wheeler (D) Mont., charged the President with seeking to establish a dictatorship in the United States while the nation is at peace. Others, like Rep. Rogers (R) Mass., said the President had "taken on the protection of the entire world — a very large order." A few, like Rep. Gifford (R) Mass., said the President's picture was "rather frightening."

Administration leaders frankly conceded that the President had asked for blanket powers to administer national defense as he sees fit. They saw no objection to this program, contending that congress cannot write a law that will cover every armament emergency arising in the future. On the other hand, they add, the President can be trusted to administer the British aid program to the best interests of both nations — since he will rely on the military advice of his generals and admirals.

Aside from popular and congressional reaction, there seems to be one obvious conclusion about the President's address. It is that he has committed the United States to Britain's cause regardless of cost or consequences.

Nazi Bomb Kills Seven Radio Men

don business houses, hotels and similar establishments, the B. B. C. makes a practice of sending "spotters" to the roof the moment that air raid alarm sounds. These watchers, equipped with tin helmets and oilskins against the London rain and fog, have portable telephones which are plugged into loudspeakers scattered at strategic points throughout the building.

The attack, like four hundred and more than had gone before, had been in progress for some minutes without any interruption in the 24-hour work of the B. B. C. when suddenly came the excited voice of a "spotter."

"Look out!" he shouted. "Here comes a big one."

And come it did. The next second a huge high explosive bomb struck a cornice at the fifth-floor level of the building, tearing a huge gash in the Portland Place side. The concussion itself, as well as falling walls and masonry, took the lives of the seven victims.

From then on, the warnings from the roof-top were more or less continuous. Many incendiary bombs were dropped after the first big one fell, starting blazes in the middle floors of the building which took six hours to extinguish.

None Sought Shelter

Perhaps the most significant thing about the whole incident was that no one bothered to seek the spacious and comparatively safe air raid shelters beneath the building. All stayed at their post, including B. E. Nichols, the director of programs, whose job includes booking of dance bands and variety shows as well as supervision of news program.

Nichols was among the casualties which occurred when a second huge bomb fell, exploding just outside the building and killing a policeman on duty outside the door.

He was one of many minor casualties inflicted in this second explosion. No less than 300 B. B. C. workers were at their posts, unbelievably calm and cool, at this time, despite the fact that raid had long been under way and emergency fire workers were rushing throughout the building with stirrup pumps and incendiary dousers to bring the many scattered blazes under control.

Broadcasting House has long been a favorite Nazi target because its importance in dissemination of British news and propaganda. A new building of entirely modern construction, it is one of the city's show-places.

BENNETT TAKES KIWANIS CLUB'S REINS FOR 1941

Educator To Direct Group
For Year, Succeeding
Donald Walker

1940 ACTIVITIES LISTED

Rotarians Will Be Hosts
At January 16 Meeting
At Hotel

Carl D. Bennett, superintendent of the Walnut Township School, became president of the Circleville Kiwanis Club Monday evening succeeding Don H. Walker, Northridge Road. Others inducted were Ervin Leist, secretary, and Dr. Robert Hedges, treasurer in addition to the new board of directors.

The new president appointed committees, and made a brief talk during which he pledged his best efforts to make the year a success and asked that each Kiwanian cooperate.

Edmund Arras of Columbus, Ohio's only past Kiwanis International president, acted as installing officer. In addition to seating the new officials he made an excellent address in which he lauded the local club for its splendid program of activity during the year. He spoke of the virtues of Kiwanis and declared that the organization is the fastest growing service club movement in the world.

The club was active along many different lines during 1940, a partial achievement report read by Mr. Walker before he retired from office disclosed.

During the year the club conducted five ladies' nights, donated $25 to the High School band uniforms, sponsored all expenses of the basketball team to the state finals, was host to the Chillicothe Kiwanis Club, traveled to Columbus Northwest and Newark clubs, gave $5 for the entrance fee of Girl Scouts to their camp, planted three trees at the disposal plant site, promoted the Policemen's and Fireman's Ball from which each participant received more than $200, entertained the Rotary Club at a picnic and ball game, awarded Scholarship Keys to outstanding boy and girl graduate of Circleville High School, gave $20 to the Red Cross War Relief fund, conducted a 10-day health camp for 30 underprivileged boys of the city and county, played four softball games with the Lancaster club winning a chicken dinner, sold football season tickets in a contest with the Rotary Club and entertaining the Rotarians after failing to sell as many tickets as did the other service club, presented trophies to healthiest boy and girl in Pickaway County chosen during the Pumpkin Show, erected two road signs, conducted the Collins Festival, entertained football lettermen at a banquet, gave $5 for Christmas seals, bought 25 tickets to the Child Conservation League play, conducted a Christmas party for underprivileged children, and gave a member of the club as a member of the International committee on agriculture, Renick W. Dunlap being chosen for that honor.

The club has been invited to be the guest of the Rotary Club at a 6:30 p. m. meeting Thursday, January 16, at the American Hotel.

Marvin Miller, a member of the Lancaster club and a former Salt Creek Township educator, was a guest Monday evening, the meeting being held in Hanley's tearoom, and the Rev. Neil Peterson of the Methodist Church was introduced as a new member.

SCHOOL OF AIR COURSES TO BE OFFERED SOON

School officials in Pickaway County have received announcement of five "School of the Air" courses to be conducted over WOSU, Ohio State University, during the spring semester.

A new series is that on "Great Ohioans", to be heard Mondays at 1:30 p. m. and Saturdays at 9:15 p. m., starting January 6. Starting with William Maxwell, publisher of Ohio's first newspaper at Cincinnati, the series takes up one great Ohioan each week.

Other school broadcasts include "Our World Today", by Professor Arthur H. Moehlman, Wednesdays at 1:30 p. m.; "Play-Time", by Dorothy Schochen, Thursdays at 1:30 p. m.; "Music Time", by Professor Joseph Leeder and other music faculty members, Mondays and Wednesdays at 1:45 p. m.; "Story-Time", by Marguerite Strauss, Tuesdays at 1:30 p. m.

Schools in 100 Ohio cities and towns have been using "School of the Air" programs as a part of the curriculum this year. Full details on each course are set forth in booklets available by writing WOSU, Ohio State University.

SECOND PETITION BLAMES SIXTEEN FOR ALIENATION

COLUMBUS, Jan. 7 — A $110,000 suit alleging that 16 persons alienated the affection of his wife, Elizabeth Orr Bennett, was on file in Franklin County Common Pleas court today by David Bennett, Columbus.

The suit asserted that Mrs. Bennett attempted to obtain a divorce as a result of "undue influence" on the part of the 16 defendants. Although the petition was dismissed, Bennett charged that her attitude in the case "was one of great mental distress, brought about by relatives and others."

About six weeks ago, Bennett sued eight persons for $105,000, accusing them of conspiring to keep him and his wife separated. That suit still is pending. The Bennetts were married in 1929, and have a nine-year-old daughter.

Those named in the new suit were Florence O. Maxwell, Jean E. Maxwell, Elmer F. Kruse and Dale C. Williams, of Columbus; Virginia Lee Orr Barrett, Paul G. Barrett and Freda B. Orr, of Chillicothe; Elizabeth L. Orr and W. K. Orr, of Kingston.

OHIO ASSEMBLY FIGHT FORECAST AFTER ARGUMENT

Trouble looms ahead for the slight Republican majority in the Ohio Senate following a stormy session which saw the Democratic minority balk what they termed "an attempt to belittle Democratic strength" on committee appointments.

Directing his remarks to Sen. Grant P. Ward (R-Columbus), Sen. Clarence L. Young, a Democratic newcomer from Cleveland, threw the senate into an uproar when he stated, "If you want a fight, Mister, you're going to get it."

Ward was chairman of the Republican-controlled committee on committees. He represents Franklin and Pickaway Counties in the senate.

The party lineup in the senate is 19 Republicans and 17 Democrats, and the minority group objected because it was allowed only two members on most committees. The only exceptions were the important finance and taxation committees where the Democrats were given three members.

The argument from the floor at Monday night's session was brought to an abrupt close when Senate Majority Leader Frank E. Whittemore, of Akron, noted the absence of three Republican members and succeeded in having action on the committee report postponed until today.

Last year saw a reduction in the number of major crimes in the city, but an increase in the number of misdemeanors, Police Chief William McCrady said Tuesday as he filed his annual police report for 1940. A reduction in the number of intoxicants under 1939 was also cited.

Persons arrested for being "drunk and disorderly" still headed the list of 1940 arrests, with 299. Overtime parkers brought the second largest number of arrests, with 235, eighty-five of which paid fines.

Of the 45 cases of petit larceny reported to local police officers during last year, 25 persons were prosecuted, and of the 37 breaking and entering cases 17 persons were fined.

Assault and battery cases in the city during the year totaled 7, drunken driving 50, persons held for investigation 33, auto larceny cases 5, grand larceny 3, obtaining money under false pretenses 2, disorderly conduct 27, robbery 1, traffic violations 91 speeding 64, statutory offenses 9, selling liquor to minors 4, gambling 50, cutting to kill 1, false registration at hotel 1, fighting 12, carrying concealed weapons 3, runaways caught 10, persons arrested for passing bad checks 12, escaped prisoners caught 2, parole violators caught 2 and persons arrested for other offenses 23.

Taft OPPOSES F. D.'S METHOD OF BRITISH AID

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 — Sen. Robert A. Taft, (R) Ohio, protested strongly today against President Roosevelt's plea for "unlimited, arbitrary power" in handling both national defense and aid to the democracies, notably Britain.

The Ohio Senator charged that the President was attempting to merge the two in order to aid Britain even at the cost of weakening America's own defense.

"In spite of my belief that we should aid England to such an extent as does not involve our entering the war, I thoroughly disapprove of the method of lending munitions suggested by the President," Taft asserted. "He is again asking for unlimited personal authority to loan abroad as much as he sees fit."

"He is deliberately confusing our own defense program with that of British orders so that the two issues cannot be separated, and so that the President would have complete authority to weaken our own defenses in order to aid Britain."

SNOW EXPECTED TO STRIKE OHIO LATER TUESDAY

By International News Service
Light but widespread snowfall was predicted for Ohio late today as forecasters promised slight relief from the season's most severe cold spell.

Although temperatures remained about the same in the northern half of the state, which was protected yesterday by a low-hanging blanket of clouds, the mercury climbed sluggishly upward in the other areas. Temperatures this morning ranged from a low of eight degrees in the Sidney area to a high of 27 around Newark.

Dayton and Cincinnati, two of the coldest spots in the state yesterday, reported 15-degree temperatures this morning. Columbus turned in a 17-degree reading, Akron and Cambridge reported 19, and Cleveland turned in 20.

The forecast was for increasing cloudiness with slowly rising temperatures today, followed by light snow tonight and tomorrow morning.

State Route 250 still remained closed at Tappan, in Harrison County, but the highway department reported the rest of Ohio's highways clear and dry.

COUNTY SCHOOL BOARDS CHOOSE 1941 OFFICIALS

BENNETT TAKES KIWANIS CLUB'S REINS FOR 1941

Educator To Direct Group
For Year, Succeeding
Donald Walker

1940 ACTIVITIES LISTED

Rotarians Will Be Hosts
At January 16 Meeting
At Hotel

Carl D. Bennett, superintendent of the Walnut Township School, became president of the Circleville Kiwanis Club Monday evening succeeding Don H. Walker, Northridge Road. Others inducted were Ervin Leist, secretary, and Dr. Robert Hedges, treasurer in addition to the new board of directors.

The new president appointed committees, and made a brief talk during which he pledged his best efforts to make the year a success and asked that each Kiwanian cooperate.

Edmund Arras of Columbus, Ohio's only past Kiwanis International president, acted as installing officer. In addition to seating the new officials he made an excellent address in which he lauded the local club for its "mid program of activity during the year. He spoke of the virtues of Kiwanis and declared that the organization is the fastest growing service club movement in the world.

The club was active along many different lines during 1940, a partial achievement report read by Mr. Walker before he retired from office disclosed.

During the year the club conducted five ladies' nights, donated $25 to the High School band uniforms, sponsored all expenses of the basketball team to the state finals, was host to the Chillicothe Kiwanis Club, traveled to Columbus Northwest and Newark clubs, gave $5 for the entrance fee of Girl Scouts to their camp, planted three trees at the disposal plant site, promoted the Policemen's and Fireman's Ball from which each participant received more than $200, entertained the Rotary Club at a picnic and ball game, awarded Scholarship Keys to outstanding boy and girl graduate of Circleville High School, gave $20 to the Red Cross War Relief fund, conducted a 10-day health camp for 30 underprivileged boys of the city and county, played four football games with the Lancaster club winning a chicken dinner, sold football season tickets in a contest with the Rotary Club and entertaining the Rotarians after failing to sell as many tickets as did the other service club, presented trophies to healthiest boy and girl in Pickaway County chosen during the Pumpkin Show, erected two road signs, conducted the Collins Festival, entertained football lettermen at a banquet, gave $5 for Christmas seals, bought 25 tickets to the Child Conservation League play, conducted a Christmas party for underprivileged children, and gave a member of the club as a member of the International committee on agriculture, Renick W. Dunlap being chosen for that honor.

The club has been invited to be the guest of the Rotary Club at a 6:30 p. m. meeting Thursday, January 16, at the American Hotel.

Marvin Miller, a member of the Lancaster club and a former Salt Creek Township educator, was a guest Monday evening, the meeting being held in Hanley's tea-room, and the Rev. Neil Peterson of the Methodist Church was introduced as a new member.

SCHOOL OF AIR COURSES TO BE OFFERED SOON

School officials in Pickaway County have received announcement of five "School of the Air" courses to be conducted over WOSU, Ohio State University, during the spring semester.

A new series is that on "Great Ohioans", to be heard Mondays at 1:30 p. m. and Saturdays at 9:15 p. m., starting January 6. Starting with William Maxwell, publisher of Ohio's first newspaper at Cincinnati, the series takes up one great Ohioan each week.

Other school broadcasts include "Our World Today", by Professor Arthur H. Moehlman, Wednesdays at 1:30 p. m.; "Play-Time", by Dorothy Schochen, Thursdays at 1:30 p. m.; "Music Time", by Professor Joseph Leeder and other music faculty members, Mondays and Wednesdays at 1:45 p. m.; "Story-Time" by Marguerite Strauss, Tuesdays at 1:30 p. m.

Schools in 100 Ohio cities and towns have been using "School of the Air" programs as a part of the curriculum this year. Full details on each course are set forth in booklets available by writing WOSU, Ohio State University.

Choice for Job?

FORMER Representative Guy J. Swope, of Harrisburg, Pa., is reported to be President Roosevelt's choice for governor general of Puerto Rico, to succeed Admiral William D. Leahy, now ambassador to France.

SECOND PETITION BLAMES SIXTEEN FOR ALIENATION

COLUMBUS, Jan. 7 — A $110,000 suit alleging that 16 persons alienated the affection of his wife, Elizabeth Orr Bennett, was on file in Franklin County Common Pleas court today by David Bennett, Columbus.

The suit asserted that Mrs. Bennett attempted to obtain a divorce as a result of "undue influence" on the part of the 16 defendants. Although the petition was dismissed, Bennett charged that her attitude in the case "was one of great mental distress, brought about by relatives and others."

About six weeks ago, Bennett sued eight persons for $105,000, accusing them of conspiring to keep him and his wife separated. That suit still is pending. The Bennetts were married in 1929, and have a nine-year-old daughter.

Those named in the new suit were Florence O. Maxwell, Jean E. Maxwell, Elmer F. Kruse and Dale C. Williams, of Columbus; Virginia Lee Orr Barrett, Paul G. Barrett and Freda B. Orr, of Chillicothe; Elizabeth L. Orr and W. K. Orr, of Kingston.

Charlene Smith, Frankfurt; Everett G. Boyer, Gallipolis; Harry O. Donohoe, Blanchester; Oliver Morgan, Lyndon; John B. Anderson, Bainbridge; Dean D. Deeds, Granville; and Clark W. Van Schoik, Hilliard.

OHIO ASSEMBLY FIGHT FORECAST AFTER ARGUMENT

Trouble looms ahead for the slight Republican majority in the Ohio Senate following a stormy night session which saw the Democrat minority balk what they termed "an attempt to belittle Democratic strength" on committee appointments.

Directing his remarks to Sen. Grant P. Ward (R-Columbus), Sen. Clarence L. Young, a Democratic newcomer from Cleveland, threw the senate into an uproar when he stated, "If you want a fight, Mister, you're going to get it."

Ward was chairman of the Republican-controlled committee on committees. He represents Franklin and Pickaway Counties in the senate.

The party lineup in the senate is 19 Republicans and 17 Democrats, and the minority group objected because it was allowed only two members on most committees. The only exceptions were the important finance and taxation committees where the Democrats were given three members.

The argument from the floor at Monday night's session was brought to an abrupt close when Senate Majority Leader Frank E. Whittemore, of Akron, noted the absence of three Republican members and succeeded in having action on the committee report postponed until today.

METHODISTS ASKED TO OBTAIN RESERVATIONS

Methodist men who intend to attend the county brotherhood meeting Thursday evening in Williamsport are asked to contact the Rev. Neil Peterson, H. W. Plum or Ervin Leist as early as possible to make reservations.

A splendid program has been arranged to follow the dinner to be served at 6:30 in the parish house.

MAJOR CRIMES IN CIRCLEVILLE FALL DURING '40

Police Chief's Report Of Activity Shows Many Misdemeanors

235 PARKERS ORDERED IN

50 Drunken Drivers Go To Court During Year,
McCrady Says

Last year saw a reduction in the number of major crimes in the city, but an increase in the number of misdemeanors, Police Chief William McCrady said Tuesday as he filed his annual police report for 1940. A reduction in the number of intoxicants under 1939 was also cited.

Persons arrested for being "drunk and disorderly" still headed the list of 1940 arrests, with 299. Overtime parkers brought the second largest number of arrests, with 235, eighty-five of which paid fines.

Of the 45 cases of petit larceny reported to local police officers during last year, 25 persons were prosecuted, and of the 37 breaking and entering cases 17 persons were fined.

Assault and battery cases in the city during the year totaled 7, drunken driving 50, persons held for investigation 33, auto larceny cases 5, grand larceny 3, obtaining money under false pretenses 2, disorderly conduct 27, robbery 1, traffic violations 91 speeding 64, statutory offenses 9, selling liquor to minors 4, gambling 50, cutting to kill 1, false registration at hotel 1, fighting 12, carrying concealed weapons 3, runaways caught 10, persons arrested for passing bad checks 12, escaped prisoners caught 2, parole violators caught 2 and persons arrested for other offenses 25.

TAFT OPPOSES F. D.'S METHOD OF BRITISH AID

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 — Sen. Robert A. Taft, (R) Ohio, protested strongly today against President Roosevelt's plea for "unlimited, arbitrary power" in handling both national defense and aid to the democracies, notably Britain.

The Ohio Senator charged that the President was attempting to merge the two in order to aid Britain even at the cost of weakening America's own defense.

"In spite of my belief that we should aid England to such an extent as does not involve our entering the war, I thoroughly disapprove of the method of lending munitions suggested by the President," Taft asserted. "He is again asking for unlimited personal authority to loan abroad as much as he sees fit."

"He is deliberately confusing our own defense program with that of British orders so that the two issues cannot be separated, and so that the President would have complete authority to weaken our own defenses in order to aid Britain."

SNOW EXPECTED TO STRIKE OHIO LATER TUESDAY

By International News Service
Light but widespread snowfall was predicted for Ohio late today as forecasters promised slight relief from the season's most severe cold spell.

Although temperatures remained about the same in the northern half of the state, which was protected yesterday by a low-hanging blanket of clouds, the mercury climbed sluggishly upward in the other areas. Temperatures this morning ranged from a low of eight degrees in the Sidney area to a high of 27 around Newark.

Dayton and Cincinnati, two of the coldest spots in the state yesterday, reported 15-degree temperatures this morning. Columbus turned in a 17-degree reading, Akron and Cambridge reported 19, and Cleveland turned in 20.

The forecast was for increasing cloudiness with slowly rising temperatures today, followed by light snow tonight and tomorrow morning.

State Route 250 still remained closed at Tappan, in Harrison County, but the highway department reported the rest of Ohio's highways clear and dry.

COUNTY SCHOOL BOARDS CHOOSE 1941 OFFICIALS

Reorganization meetings for county school boards were held Monday, with school programs for 1941 discussed.

Circleville School board will meet Tuesday night to reorganize. Howard Huston was reelected president of the Washington Township board at its meeting Monday, with E. A. McCoy chosen as vice-president and Clay Hitler, clerk. Other members of the Washington board are Marvin Steely and Elmon E. Richards.

The Circleville Township school board reelected Clarence Valentine president, Ralph Meinfelter, vice-president and Stanley Cilek, clerk. Other members are Ralph McDill and Charles Walters.

Virgil Hill remained president of the Scioto Township board, with G. B. Gulick, vice-president, C. V. Neal, clerk and Mrs. Marie Crawford and Miss Mabel Thompson, members.

Results of other reorganization meetings have not yet been reported.

ROCK-BOTTOM HUMANITY

THERE were some basic seeds of democracy in those old English noblemen who made King John sign the charter about seven centuries ago. They demanded and obtained liberty and uniform justice, even though it was mostly confined to themselves then and for a long time afterwards.

Slowly through the centuries the British people in general gained human rights, until in the present century, largely as a result of David Lloyd George's efforts, the Lords were deprived of their veto power and everybody got the right to vote, and a laborer, legally though not socially, became as good as a duke.

There are still great vested interests in England. Money and birth and title are still powerful. But in this war the leveling process is far more rapid than ever before. The bombing is largely responsible for that. Bomb shelters are great equalizers. They bring people down to realities. For the first time in Britain's history the rich and poor have come together. In the blasted streets and bomb-proof shelters they discover their common humanity.

It can never be the same after this. No violent revolution need be expected, but there are sure to be great social and political changes. And from the present outlook, they will probably be worked out together in the "British sporting spirit." That, along with security from foreign attack, will be what Britain wins from the war. And one of these gains may be as important and valuable as the other.

PICTURESQUE POLITICIANS

THERE is some moaning over the fact that the Washington scene will no longer contain the picturesque figure of Cactus Jack Garner. The famous Texan is retiring to his home state after 38 years in the nation's capital, 30 as a member of Congress and eight as vice president.

Mr. Garner has been called "Heaven's gift to the cartoonists." He has also provided much material for the Washington correspondents. It will require the perspective of time, no doubt, for historians or biographers to appraise the value of his public service. Judging from its length, it has been approved by Texas voters.

As for the sad loss to the nation of such a character, it may be said as consolation that a democracy like this one will continue turning up unique individuals. "The old order changeth," but human nature doesn't.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . . Hour by Hour

Pages From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Up and about for the first time in eight days and did find the outdoors good. Coffee Club members insist, and have been telling everyone, that the "kick" of a 22 rifle knocked the scrivener into bed. Herman Hill sent a card suggesting that in the future I confine my shooting to a sling-shot. Out by special delivery came a pop gun and shortly afterward flowers from the Coffee Club as a "peace offering." Flowers, too, from Rotary, and many visitors. Now, I know why hospital walls are plain. I almost reached the screaming stage over the flower design on the paper of my room. I could make that Club out a liar, but I won't for it is having too much fun.

Down in the basement a grand power sander, a Christmas gift from the boys and girls in the plant, and I haven't been able to get near it. Mighty fine and competent workers are on my payroll.

Christmas holidays now only a memory, but a pleasant memory to almost everyone. A slow start in trade, but a whirlwind finish that set new marks. And everywhere folk commenting on the fine job done by our merchants.

Shouted with glee over news that the British had taken Bardia. Mussolini is taking a terrific kicking around and one of these days it will be Hitler's turn. Did hear the President's talk to the nation and do side in with him in his contention that it is better to have our dollars fight for us than our young men, although I think the young men will be in sooner or later. And this time when peace finally comes I hope that Germany is entirely erased from the map. That should have been done the last time and we would not be in such a state now.

Chatted with Billy Stebleton, who was home from a Kentucky camp on furlough. Drives a great 17-ton tank and finds it real fun. Says the American army can lick any nation or combination of nations. I think so, too, if the fighting men have the equipment. And they are getting it faster than most folk know. Talk to some of our soldiers in the making and learn how seriously they are taking their training.

Quiet around the ville. Little

HITLER FEARS INTERVENTION

WASHINGTON—In talks with his close advisers recently, the President has revealed a much more confident opinion of the outcome of the war in Europe.

This conference rests partly upon the belief that Hitler, and Nazi officials generally, are greatly worried over the possible entry of the United States into the war, and are acquiring a genuine respect for what the United States is accomplishing in the way of national defense.

Hitler, Roosevelt has told his friends, had the greatest scorn for Britain under Chamberlain, and for France. For some time, also, Hitler had the same idea about the United States. The President confides that as far as he has been able to ascertain, Hitler regarded him as just another Chamberlain.

But now intelligence reports from Germany indicate that Hitler's opinion of the United States has changed to one of respect and even fear. Roosevelt plans to make the most of this psychological factor, and believes that sending every possible aid to Britain, short of war, will help to do it. He believes this can be done without getting into war, though he acknowledges privately that it carries risks.

Most risky American project would be to convoy merchant ships across the Atlantic, and so far Roosevelt has refused to commit himself, though this is what the British need most desperately. However, some of his advisers continue to be strongly for it, and believe they have made a dent on the President.

What they argue is this: The United States cannot be attacked as long as the war continues to rage in Europe and the British fleet remains afloat. Therefore, since we cannot be attacked, we can get into the war to any degree we like—without sending an expeditionary force.

Should Germany declare war on the United States, these Roosevelt advisers urge, we can merely continue with our present support to Britain. Business would proceed about as usual, since the Nazis would be powerless to cross the Atlantic to attack the United States—at least until Great Britain fails. Up until that time, they figure that declaring war on the United States would be about the last thing the Nazis could do.

Today Morgenthau handles figures of astronomical proportions, but as a schoolboy at Phillips Exeter Academy, he was a problem child in mathematics. In fact, his grades were so poor that his father, Ambassador Henry Morgenthau, Sr.,

Dr. Clendening's Replies In Reader's Quiz

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Is cottage cheese a substitute for meat so far as nutritional values are concerned?

It is sometimes said that cottage cheese is equal in nutritive value, pound for pound, to lean meat, and also that one pound of cottage cheese compares favorably with one quart of milk.

According to a dietetic authority, "Cottage cheese, as usually made, contains 75 per cent of water, 20.9 per cent of protein, 1 per cent of fat, and 4.3 per cent of carbohydrate. It has nutritional or caloric value of 112 calories per 100 grams.

"Porterhouse steak has 60 per cent of water, 21.9 per cent of protein, 20.4 per cent of fat, and no carbohydrate, but contains 280 calories per 100 grams, considerably more than twice as much nutritional value as cottage cheese."

The statement as to the value of milk is about correct except that, of course, the complete caloric value of milk depends upon its fat content, which varies.

Cottage cheese is a valuable substitute in the reducing diet for meat as it supplies almost as much protein but not as much caloric value. It is easily digested and a very good food for both adults and children.

Difference in Meats

What is the difference in the nutritional value of good beef, veal and pork?

This is an important economic question. Of course, beef is the most expensive and for most people the most palatable. However, there is very little real difference in the actual nutritional value and chemical composition of these meats. Veal contains a larger percent of water, and for that reason it may take a little more veal to make up for the nutritional lack, as compared with beef, but various cuts of veal and beef vary widely in percentages of water, protein and everything else. Either beef, veal or pork is a wholesome food.

Chewing Gum

Is the chewing gum habit harmful?

I wish I could say it were, but I honestly cannot. It is certainly useless and unesthetic. During prolonged gum-chewing by hard-core chewers, the ptyalin content of the saliva diminishes because chewing stimulates the flow of saliva and in the course of time the salivary glands simple become worn out. However, they quickly regain their activity when the gum is placed under a chair and the next meal begins.

Liver Spots

What can be done for the brown spots called "liver spots" on face, shoulders and arms?

Liver spots have nothing to do with the liver, although people who have them are frightened with this idea. They are disturbances in the production of pigment which may come on at any time in life, most frequently after 35. Bleaches will remove them temporarily, but the fundamental mechanism which involves their production is a mystery which is beyond our methods of control.

W. W.: "Please tell me if tea is harmful to a person with high blood pressure."

Answer—Tea has no effect upon blood pressure whatever and neither has coffee. In fact, both of them probably do good by strengthening the heart muscle.

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO

THE SOUND of that automobile reassured me. Now Jabez would receive the proper rare. Cary had plainly shown his doubt as to whether he had done the correct thing or not, but the doctor immediately set his fears at rest.

"You should have been a doctor, Cary," he said. "That's a fine job I don't wonder you were worried; it's a nasty gas. But it's not so bad as it looks. The skull isn't fractured and the concussion, if any, is slight. He'll pull through all right. He must have dodged just as the blow landed, otherwise that poker would have crushed his head like an eggshell. Do you want me to send over a nurse when I get back to the village?"

"Not if we are competent to care for him," replied Mrs. Gould.

"It's more quiet and care he needs than anything," the doctor told her. "I'll come over each day and dress the wound, the rest you can do if you want to, as well as a nurse."

"I'll help," said Janet, and Kaye chipped in a relieved, "I, too."

That incident showed, as plainly as anything ever could, the qualities of thorough goodness which animated the Essex family. Anyone else I had ever met would, in like position, have hustled the old houseman off to the hospital, paid his bill there and considered that they had done their full duty. But not the Essexes!

Cary and Mark, under the direction of the doctor, carried Jabez to his room, and Mark returning, ushered into the library Chief of Police Frank Crane of Wetuxet. The chief was a tall, burly man, bluff and good-humored when met socially, but relentless when on the trail of a wrong-doer.

He greeted the captain in a deferential manner, carefully examined the room and shook his head over the story which Mark repeated in our presence. It was in details as Cary had told it.

"Unless we find some clue or trail in the grounds, we are absolutely up against a blank wall." The chief ruefully shook his head. "We'll do all we can, but I'm not very hopeful of finding your man. There isn't a thing here to give us a lead. Are you sure he didn't get into the safe?"

"I've been too busy to find out," Cary answered. "But I'll do so now." He started for the fireplace, followed by the chief, but the captain called the officer back.

"One minute, Chief Crane," he raised his voice a trifle. The chief stopped and turned around to face him.

"Anybody around here you think would pull a trick like this?"

"Not a soul, Captain, that I know. That's what surprises me so. How could an outsider know anything about your hidden safe? You've just said it hadn't been opened for months until the other night."

"That's right I haven't worked the thing a dozen times in the last ten years. At that time, when the Barstow place was robbed, I hired a safe deposit box at the bank and moved what valuables I had over there. It wasn't until we wanted a secure place for some family papers, as I told you, that we needed the safe."

"It looks to me," the chief said musingly, "as though someone knew about that and wanted these papers, so—tonight's raid. But why would they want your family papers?"

"How could anyone other than the members of our family know we put them in the safe? Even the servants didn't know that."

"Couldn't one of them have overheard you talking?"

"Even if they did, my servants have been with me for years. I'll never believe they connived to rob me. Remember, Mark heard footsteps running away." The chief considered. "There's one you can eliminate. If the old man had been in on it, he wouldn't have been knocked on the head."

He swung back to Cary. The safe was already in view, and I could have laughed at the disappointed grimace on Chief Crane's face. He might be a fine police chief, but I had an idea that he was as inept as any two cats could ever be.

Another idea which came to me was that the conversation between him and Captain Essex had been carefully staged from seeing Cary manipulate the safe controls.

Whoever the intruder might prove to be, the safe had been too much for him. So far as could be observed, it had not been opened since Cary had closed it.

Cary and the chief puttered about the safe, talking, for some time, yet in an unobtrusive manner Cary always managed to shield the mantel from close inspection.

When they finally turned away Cary waited until Mrs. Gould ventured some comment to the chief before swinging the mantel into place. Again I noticed the foiled expression on the chief's face.

As soon as daylight came the chief carefully went over the grounds. He easily located the cut telephone wire which had broken our connection with central. Not another thing was found on the grounds. The flagstone terrace led to a cement walk which ran into the cement driveway leading to the back gates, and it would have needed a troop of elephants to mark their solid surfaces.

The servants were thoroughly questioned. Each one proclaimed innocence not only of the attempted robbery, but also of knowledge that there was a safe in the house.

For three days Janet and Kaye, under the watchful eye of the doctor and Mrs. Gould's supervision, tenderly cared for old Jabez. When he was able to be raised on his pillows, he shakily related his experience.

He had been aroused from sleep—his room is on the ground floor off the back hall—by a queer crackling sound. It was undoubtedly the splintering of the mantel, but Jabez's first thought was of fire. He rushed to the library, where he had left a screened fire burning. There he found a tall, broad-shouldered man masked and reeking of whiskey, prying, with a pin-bar, at the mantel casing. He rushed at the intruder who surprised, dropped the bar with which he was working. It struck the poker, as it fell, and brought that, clattering to the hearth. Undoubtedly that was the noise which awakened Mark.

Jabez still retained his courage of younger days. He tried to seize the man who, jumping aside, snatched up the poker, probably in mistake for the pin-bar, and struck the houseman over the head.

It was a fortunate mistake for Jabez. Had the poker not been knocked down, the man would most certainly have used the bar he had brought and taken away with him.

Not even Jabez's swerving aside would, in that case, have saved him, for even a glancing blow from such a weapon would almost certainly have meant his death.

On the fifth day weak and shaky, Jabez insisted on resuming his duties. That night before dinner, Mrs. Gould placed a chair by the serving table where Jabez always stood when not actually waiting upon the table. Shortly before Alice instructed

"He won't like it," the girl said, in a defensive tone.

"I will attend to that. Be ready when I send for you."

Alice always had helped Jabez arrange the table, but he was the only servant in the room during the meals.

That night when we entered the dining room, Jabez stood in his accustomed place. His face was pale, and I noticed that his hands shook when he lifted a dish.

"Jabez," Mrs. Gould's voice held quiet command, "will you ask Alice to come to me, please?"

Jabez gave a mistress a perplexed glance, but obeyed, and when Alice, in neat black uniform and white frilled apron, entered, Mrs. Gould said:

"Jabez, you are to sit in that chair by the table and direct Alice, who will wait on us in the future, until I tell you to take her place."

"But, madam—" Jabez's voice trembled. Mrs. Gould did not allow him to finish his remonstrance.

"Jabez, I have given you an order." Her tone was inflexible, and Jabez, face drawn into disapproving lines, was forced to obey.

The next morning when I came down to breakfast I found all but the old captain gathered around Cary at a side table. The mailbag, brought from Wetuxet each morning by the chauffeur, lay on the floor, letters and papers were in a higgledy-piggledy pile on the table. Cary, with grim face and stern voice, was reading aloud from a paper in his hand.

For Tuesday, January 7

THE PLANETARY auspices ruling this day may unfold some rather conflicting situations, with much of a personal and entirely pleasant and promising nature beset by circumstance which may take determination, fortitude and optimism to turn the balance in lucrative and happy direction.

Those whose birthday it is may experience a year of prosperity, pleasure and much personal gratification by meeting difficult or doubtful situations by tact, sound judgment, persistent and hopeful measures, especially where finances or property values are concerned. In such perplexities seek counsel from elders or dependable women. The general trend may be toward social, artistic, domestic or emotional activities.

A child born on this day should be serious, dependable and ambitious although highly gifted with social or sentimental traits and may be genial though retiring and exclusive.

Discoveries, Inventions Are Subjects Of Club

Three On Program
At Monday's Meeting

Circleville Monday Club in its year study of the subject "Meeting a Changing World" directed its attention Monday evening to the discoveries and inventions of the twentieth century, the regular session being held in the Sunday School room of the Presbyterian Church. The department of science, with Mrs. Orion King, chairman, was in charge of the program. Interesting papers were presented by Miss Margaret Dunlap, Mrs. Frank Morrison and Mrs. R. R. Bales.

The discoveries in industry and engineering were listed in the paper prepared by Miss Margaret Dunlap and read in her absence by Mrs. Tom Renick. Specifically Miss Dunlap described the advances made during the twentieth century in the use and development of glass, such as laminated glass, noted for its flexibility, strength and visibility; tempered glass, used for portholes in naval vessels, table tops, mirrors, shelves, show cases and some show windows; thermoplastic glass, used to replace ordinary window glass to keep out summer heat and winter cold. She then discussed the airplane, printing and radio industries and the strides made in their highly specialized engineering feats.

Mrs. Morrison had for her subject "The Romance of Food" and said in opening "The secret of romance in food is to find out what the people like and have more of it; find out what they don't like and have less of it." She then discussed at length the following points: "Woman, as Mrs. Consumer, stands back of the amazing progress of the food industry in America; the development and standard quality and quantity through the Food, Drug and Cosmetic act passed in 1938 by the Federal government; packaged foods, mentioning that there are about 3,500 items in the average grocery store; the education of women in preparing food through home economic institutions and millions of recipe books; vitamins and their use in the growth and health of the body; the ever-changing demand for variety in food and its preparation."

Beginning her talk on "New Textiles" with the statement "Designers say, 'Be wide awake and innocent this year!'" Mrs. Bales continued by saying, "How else can we look with clothes being made out of such things as glass, aluminum, wood, milk, coal and limestone." She then reviewed the history of textiles from the earliest times and discussed the manufacture of the newer ones and closed with the statement that "While here may be, 'nothing new under the sun', there certainly are new ways of using the old."

Mrs. Henry S. Lewis conducted the business meeting of the club during which Miss Frances Alderson was received as an active member. The report of the last meeting was read by Miss Katherine Foreman, secretary.

The session was marked by an excellent attendance.

YOUNG GUEST-STAR

Movie actors Roland Young and James Stephenson join Bing Crosby in everything but song when the meeting of the Music Hall "takes up" on Thursday. Bob Burns, Connie Boswell, the Music Makers, and John Scott Trotter's orchestra will aid and abet the full-hour's entertainment starting at 9:00.

Crosby plans to sing, "Rancho Grande," "Song of the Islands," "Love Turns Winter to Spring," "Beautiful Dreamer," and for his memory song, "Balling the Jack." He'll duet "Frenesi" with Connie Boswell.

The Boswell solo appearances will feature her well-known singing manner in "Home on the Range" and "Perfidia."

VALLEE SHOW

Once again Rudy Vallee and John Barrymore find themselves cast as arch-enemies in a specially written drama of the Northwest Mounted Police. The Great Profile portrays the part of a slick trapper-crook who catches rabbits and then dyes them to look like mink fur.

Vallee, of the undaunted North-west Mounties, brings Barrymore to justice, and in so doing, wins the heart of the heroine, Lurene Tuttle. However, there is another girl in the case who is known as "Malamute Mary," and her presence in the great drama remains a mystery even after the opus is finished. Susan Miller is cast as "Malamute Mary."

RADIO BRIEFS

Most interesting occupation discovered by Mary Margaret McBride, columnist of the air, when she was present at the opening of the new Sixth Avenue Subway in New York City, was the subway sniffer. It is his job to possess a sensitive nose so he can determine the degree of purity of the air in the subway.

Kate Smith has just recovered from a cold which she has had for two or three weeks. She enjoyed the warm southern weather—which hastened her recuperation during her recent visit in Dallas.

The News Behind the News

What do you find in the newspaper you are holding in your hands?

On the front page, headlines; history bursting into shape before your eyes...

Then, on the inner pages, news you might not at first recognize as such... pages of advertising from your local stores. Pages of merchandise... an assortment of wares so varied and so complete it would take you weeks to inspect it in person!

News? Yes! Not to shake the world, perhaps, but important to matters you care about. The new dress Mary wants for the Prom (here is one illustrated and you had no idea it would cost so little). Or Junior's new bicycle (you could not very well have guessed that the sporting-goods store was having a sale!).

Newspaper advertising saves you money—you can compare prices better than you could by store-to-store searching. It saves you time—you can decide just where to go before you start. And it saves you mistakes—These goods are sold exactly as advertised!

So read all the news in the newspapers! Sometimes the advertisements can mean more to you than all the foreign dispatches on Page One!

CONTRACT BRIDGE

A NEW DANGER ENTERS

IF YOU hold exactly the same adequate number of cards in both of your partner's suits, the one which is shorter in his hand usually makes the better trump, as he can then use the longer one to get discards of losers in other suits. But if both suits are inordinately long, it is dangerous to have the longer one on the side. Its great length increases the likelihood that one opponent may be blank in it and therefore able to furnish a defensive ruff which will beat your contract.

North's mistake on this deal was due to his following of a principle which is fine as far as it goes, but costly when overdone. He knew from South's bidding hearts first that this suit was longer than the spades. The extreme activity of the opponents in bidding the minors should also have told North South was very short in them and hence probably had two majors of considerable length—more likely six hearts and five spades than five and four. North reckoned that the longer hearts would enable South to get a diamond discard from his hand, but it turned out this was not needed. He did not stop to think that eleven cards in the side's two hands made it very likely one opponent was void. It happened that East had none of the suit, and his double indicated to West that this was the suit to lead. That worthy obeyed the implied instructions, with the result that the contract was set on the very first trick. Of course the double gave North and South a chance to take out into an airtight 7-No Trumps, but that is another story.

Brown to Use Own Aides If He Gets Buckeye Job

By Jerry Brondfield

MASSILLON, O., Jan. 7.—The Paul Brown-for-Ohio State-football coach movement drew closer to a climax today, following a visit to Massillon by L. W. St. John, Buckeye athletic director, who not only conferred at great length with the Massillon High School mentor, but met his assistants as well.

It was the first visit St. John paid to Brown's own backyard and in many quarters it was accepted as an indication that Brown is just about "in" as the replacement for the abdicated Francis A. Schmidt.

Furthermore, Brown admitted he will return to Columbus this week for a friendly get-together with the Ohio State Athletic Board and other officials. He already had had a previous meeting with St. John in Columbus.

Part of St. John's visit to Massillon yesterday was to meet, first-hand, the men who very likely may become Brown's assistants at Ohio State, if and when he gets the job.

All Know System
Hugh McGranahan and C. C. Widdoes have been with Brown for eight years; Fritz Heisler for five. All three are firmly grounded in the system which brought Massillon to the pinnacle of national scholastic gridiron prominence.

"I am given to understand," Brown said, "that the man who gets the Ohio State job will have the opportunity of naming his assistants—or at least two of them."

(Indications from Columbus were that Freshman Coach Fritz Mackey, who also tutors the varsity baseballers, and Eddie Blicke, backfield and freshman basketball coach, will stay on.)

McGranahan played football at Mt. Union, Widdoes at Otterbein and Heisler at Miami, after starring under Brown at Massillon.

Should Brown move onto the Buckeye campus with two of his assistants it would be unprecedented in Big Ten gridiron history. Bob Zuppke went to Illinois from a high school field, but never has an almost complete staff moved up at once.

Brown was unable to offer any of St. John's reactions on meeting his present assistants.

"You'll have to ask Mister Saint John about that, yourself," he said.

HOPPE IN LEAD IN TITLE MATCH WITH SCHAEFER

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—Willie Hoppe, world three-cushion billiards champion, held a comfortable 53-point lead today over Jake Schaefer in their 480-point title match.

Entering the third block of the series today, Hoppe was out in front of the challenger 120 points to 67. He won yesterday's first two blocks 60 to 28 in 39 innings and 60 to 39 in 49 innings.

The former "boy wonder" of New York was in fine form in the opening matches. By clicking off 120 billiards in 87 innings, he averaged 1.379 points per inning, as compared with his average of 1.161 points per inning during his championship play last year in which he set an all-time record by winning 20 straight matches.

Hoppe's high run in the first two matches was eight billiards, scored in the afternoon block. Schaefer came through with a run of seven in the second block last night.

In addition to the two blocks today, the two experts will play two more tomorrow and their final two on Thursday.

Starting Monday, Hoppe and Schaefer will compete in the 1941 world three-cushion tourney with 16 other leading cue wielders. Prize money in the title meet totals $20,000.

PATRICK WINNER AGAIN IN FIRST ROUND OF FIGHT

Dempsey Patrick, Circleville boxer, gained a first round knockout verdict Monday night over Kid Williams of Chillicothe in a scheduled main go of six rounds on a Kingston card.

A right uppercut to the chin knocked Williams into oblivion.

Other results were:

Jim Jenison, Chillicothe, decision over John Durr, Kingston.

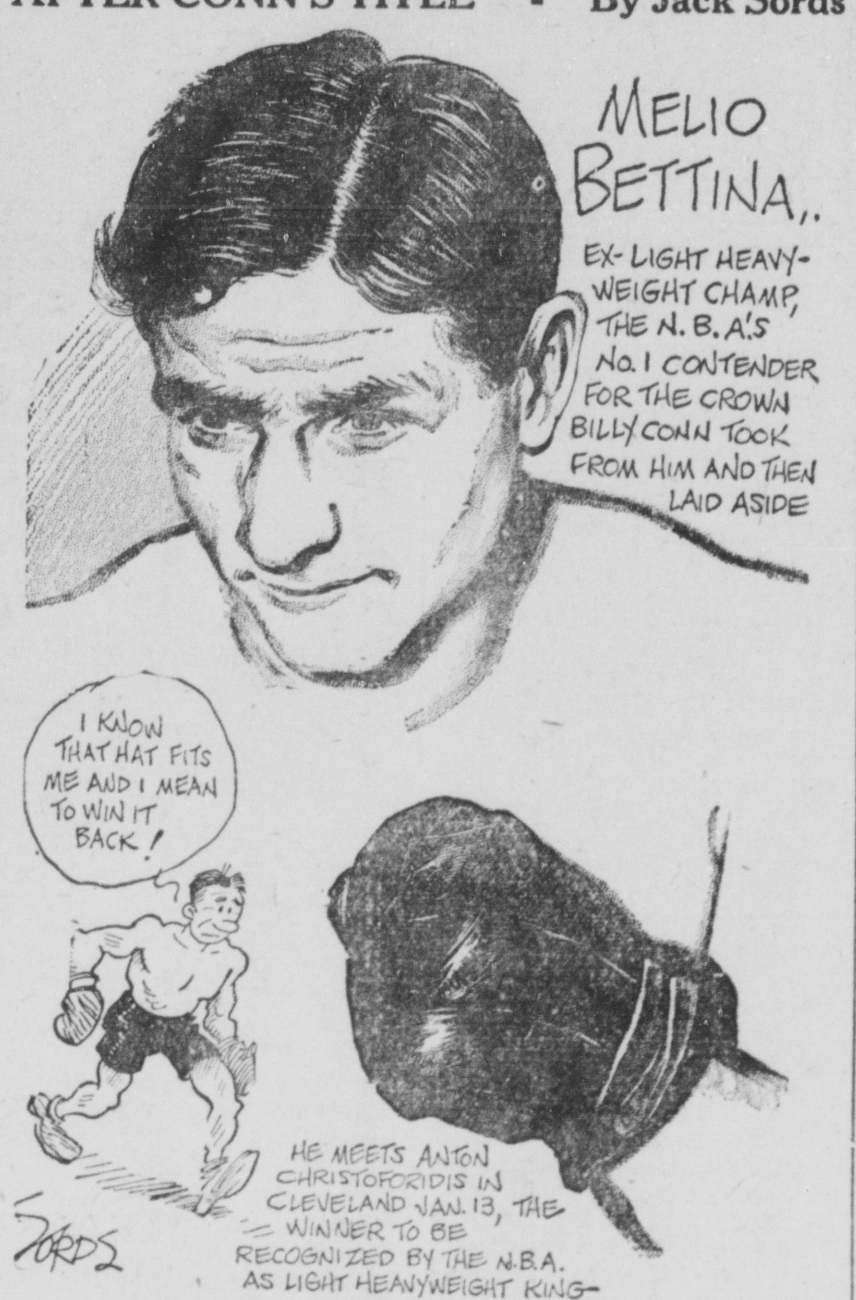

Red Garrett, Circleville, and Melvin Thomas, Ashville, draw.

Art Organ, Logan Elm, technical knockout winner over Wayne Bretage, Meade.

Knockout For Nova?

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Manager Ray Carlen today predicted that his fighter, Lou Nova, California heavyweight who is staging a comeback, would win by a knockout in his fight with Pat Comiskey, New Jersey heavyweight, in New York next Friday night.

AFTER CONN'S TITLE - By Jack Sords

Pearson Addition Gives Reds Mighty Hill Staff

CINCINNATI, Jan. 7.—It is generally conceded that Cincinnati has moulded together the strongest pitching staff in baseball. This staff has produced two National League championships and one world's title for the Reds. There have been many ups and downs for the members of this phenomenal staff, and when you analyze the success of the individual members prior to becoming affiliated with Bill McKechnie, you'll find things that will surprise.

For instance, prior to Bill McKechnie's move to Cincinnati, Paul Derringer, who has won 66 games the past three years, won only ten games for the Reds in 1937. Bucky Walters had a record of four victories and eight defeats when purchased from the Phillies in 1938.

Gene Thompson came up from the Class B Columbia team of the Sally League. Jim Turner won four and lost 11 for Boston in 1939, before his transfer to Cincinnati. Joe Beggs won 12 and lost 10 for the International League Bears in 1939. Whitey Moore and Johnny Vander Meer came up from the minors, with Vander Meer having an international league mark of five wins and 11 defeats in the season preceding his great success of 1938, when he hurled two successive no hit games.

Contrast these marks to the records of 1940, under McKechnie's guidance. Walters won 22 games last year, Derringer 20, Thompson 15, Turner 14, Beggs 12, Moore 8 and Vander Meer 3.

Bill Knows Material
All of this can mean but one thing—that Bill McKechnie knows pitching material, regardless of record. And it leads to the recent addition of Monte Pearson, 31-year-old righthander from the New York Yankees. Pearson has had great years in the majors, and never has lost a world series game. He has won four, including a two-hit shutout over the Reds in the 1939 classic. However, last year Pearson won only seven games for the Bombers, had a bad back and didn't hurl the last two months of the season.

In the face of this mediocre 1939 record, and the player's injuries, McKechnie still was very anxious to get Pearson. "He's my kind of pitcher," said Bill during the negotiations, "and I want him". Those words were spoken to General Manager Warren Giles, who then completed the transaction for Pearson's purchase from the Yanks. The physical condition of the player must be okay, for Ed Barrow, of the Yankees, assured Kiles that Pearson is all right. Barrow's word is enough for the Redleg chieftains. They have learned through experience that Ed tells the truth.

A sound Pearson, working for McKechnie, should fit right into the Cincinnati scheme of things. If he follows the course of the other men, he'll have a highly successful season, which is just the way Deacon Bill expects things to pan out.

BULLA RECEIVES $3,500 CHECK AS HE GRABS OPEN

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 7.—Johnny Bulla, who won the Los Angeles $10,000 Open tournament yesterday at the Riviera Country Club with a 72 hole total score of 281, today seemed destined to go places in golf.

In the past he has nursed a golf inferiority complex. Time after time he has been out in front in major competition and then has faltered in the stretch—but those days are gone forever and the confidence he has gained from that victory—his check was $3,500—will make him a dangerous foe in other tournaments of the winter circuit.

His final round yesterday, played under adverse weather conditions with the "pressure on," found him breaking par by two strokes with a 69. And the blistering pace he set in the final drive saw others break—not Bulla. It was an exciting finish, for with but eighteen holes to go anyone of a dozen top ranking players could have fought his way into first place.

The first real break came when Craig Wood, of Mamaroneck, N. Y., shooting a final round of 68, came in with a total of 283—the best 72 hole score Riviera had ever seen. Wood finished about the time that Bulla rounded the 63rd hole—and the latter played his last nine knowing what he had to do to beat Wood.

Wood's 283 was good enough to take second money, $1,700, while Clayton Heafner and Ben Hogan, of Lynville, North Carolina, and White Plains, New York, were tied for third with totals of 284.

One stroke back of these two came the 54-hole leader, Jimmy Thomson, and Willie Goggin, with totals of 283. Horton Smith, of Oak Park, Ill., had 286 and Denny Shute, of West Newton, Mass., had 287. Lawson Little, of San Francisco, wound up with 288 and Lloyd Mangrum, of Chicago, came next with 290.

Nova looked impressive in his five-round workout yesterday.

OHIO STATE AND ILLINI SURPRISE IN LOOP OPENER

Buckeyes Thump Wolverines After Trailing By One Point At Halftime

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—Illinois, Minnesota and Ohio State were the pace-setters today in the Big Ten basketball race following victories in opening games of the conference schedule.

The Illini furnished the biggest first night news by soundly thumping Purdue's defending champions, 49 to 34, but Minnesota, which defeated Wisconsin, 44-27, and Ohio State, which defeated Michigan, 49-39, also were impressive.

Stirring second half offensives featured all the games. Illinois trailed Purdue at halftime, 20-15, and Ohio State also was second best at halftime, when Michigan was ahead by 21-20.

Taking advantage of 15 out of 16 free throw attempts, the Bucks rallied from a 21-20 deficit at the half to win going away, as Dick Fisher and Jack McClain scored 27 points between them. The elusive Fisher, who didn't see action in the first four games of the year, scored 13 points while McClain tallied 14.

Capt. Herb Brogan with 13 points and Pim Mandler with 12 led Michigan's attack.

The Minnesota-Wisconsin battle was nip and tuck through the opening period, which ended with the Gophers having a 21-19 advantage, but in the second half Minnesota held the Badgers scoreless from the floor.

By virtue of their decisive victory over the Boilermakers, the Illini have established themselves as definite threats in the title race. They face a stiff test in their second encounter Saturday night, when Indiana's national collegiate champions, runners-up to Purdue a year ago, invade Champaign for their first league tilt.

Other games Saturday, by which time all conference fires will be in action except Chicago, pit Michigan against Purdue, Iowa against Wisconsin, and Northwestern against Ohio State.

Iowa's Hawkeyes won their seventh straight non-conference game last night from North Dakota, 43-22, and Chicago's Maroons, who will not open conference warfare until Monday, turned back Princeton in an overtime contest, 32-31.

TIGERS TANGLE WITH HURRICANE

Varsity Game To Be Under Way About 8 O'clock In C. A. C. Gym

A large crowd of basketball fans is expected to move into the C. A. C. gym Tuesday evening to watch Coach Roy Black's boys tangle with the Wilmington Hurricane. A reserve game is scheduled to start at 7:15 with the varsity contest to get under way as near 8 o'clock as possible.

The Tigers went through a lengthy workout Monday evening in preparation for the encounter, and all the boys appear to be in good shape after their two week holiday vacation.

Starting lineups are expected to be:

Brown to Use Own Aides If He Gets Buckeye Job

By Jerry Brondfield

MASSILLON, O., Jan. 7—The Paul Brown-for-Ohio State-football coach movement drew closer to a climax today, following a visit to Massillon by L. W. St. John, Buckeye athletic director, who not only conferred at great length with the Massillon High School mentor, but met his assistants as well.

It was the first visit St. John paid to Brown's own backyard and in many quarters it was accepted as an indication that Brown is just about "in" as the replacement for the abdicated Francis A. Schmidt.

Furthermore, Brown admitted he will return to Columbus this week for a friendly get-together with the Ohio State Athletic Board and other officials. He already had had a previous meeting with St. John in Columbus.

Part of St. John's visit to Massillon yesterday was to meet, first-hand, the men who very likely may become Brown's assistants at Ohio State, if and when he gets the job.

All Know System
Hugh McGranahan and C. C. Widdoes have been with Brown for eight years; Fritz Helsler for five. All three are firmly grounded in the system which brought Massillon to the pinnacle of national scholastic gridiron prominence.

"I am given to understand," Brown said, "that the man who gets the Ohio State job will have the opportunity of naming his assistants—or at least two of them."

(Indications from Columbus were that Freshman Coach Fritz Mackey, who also tutors the varsity baseballers, and Eddie Blicke, backfield and freshman basketball coach, will stay on.)

McGranahan played football at Mt. Union, Widdoes at Otterbein and Helsler at Miami, after starring under Brown at Massillon.

Should Brown move onto the Buckeye campus with two of his assistants it would be unprecedented in Big Ten gridiron history. Bob Zuppke went to Illinois from a high school field, but never has an almost complete staff moved up at once.

Brown was unable to offer any of St. John's reactions on meeting his present assistants.

"You'll have to ask Mister Saint John about that, yourself," he said.

HOPPE IN LEAD IN TITLE MATCH WITH SCHAEFER

CHICAGO, Jan. 7—Willie Hoppe, world three-cushion billiards champion, held a comfortable 53-point lead today over Jake Schaefer in their 480-point title match.

Entering the third block of the series today, Hoppe was out in front of the challenger 120 points to 67. He won yesterday's first two blocks 60 to 28 in 39 innings and 60 to 39 in 49 innings.

The former "boy wonder" of New York was in fine form in the opening matches. By clicking off 120 billiards in 87 innings, he averaged 1.379 points per inning, as compared with his average of 1.161 points per inning during his championship play last year in which he set an all-time record by winning 20 straight matches.

Hoppe's high run in the first two matches was eight billiards, scored in the afternoon block. Schaefer came through with a run of seven in the second block last night.

In addition to the two blocks today, the two experts will play two more tomorrow and their final two on Thursday.

Starting Monday, Hoppe and Schaefer will compete in the 1941 world three-cushion tourney with 16 other leading cue wielders. Prize money in the title meet totals $20,000.

PATRICK WINNER AGAIN IN FIRST ROUND OF FIGHT

Dempsey Patrick, Circleville boxer, gained a first round knockout verdict Monday night over Kid Williams of Chillicothe in a scheduled main go of six rounds on a Kingston card.

A right uppercut to the chin knocked Williams into oblivion.

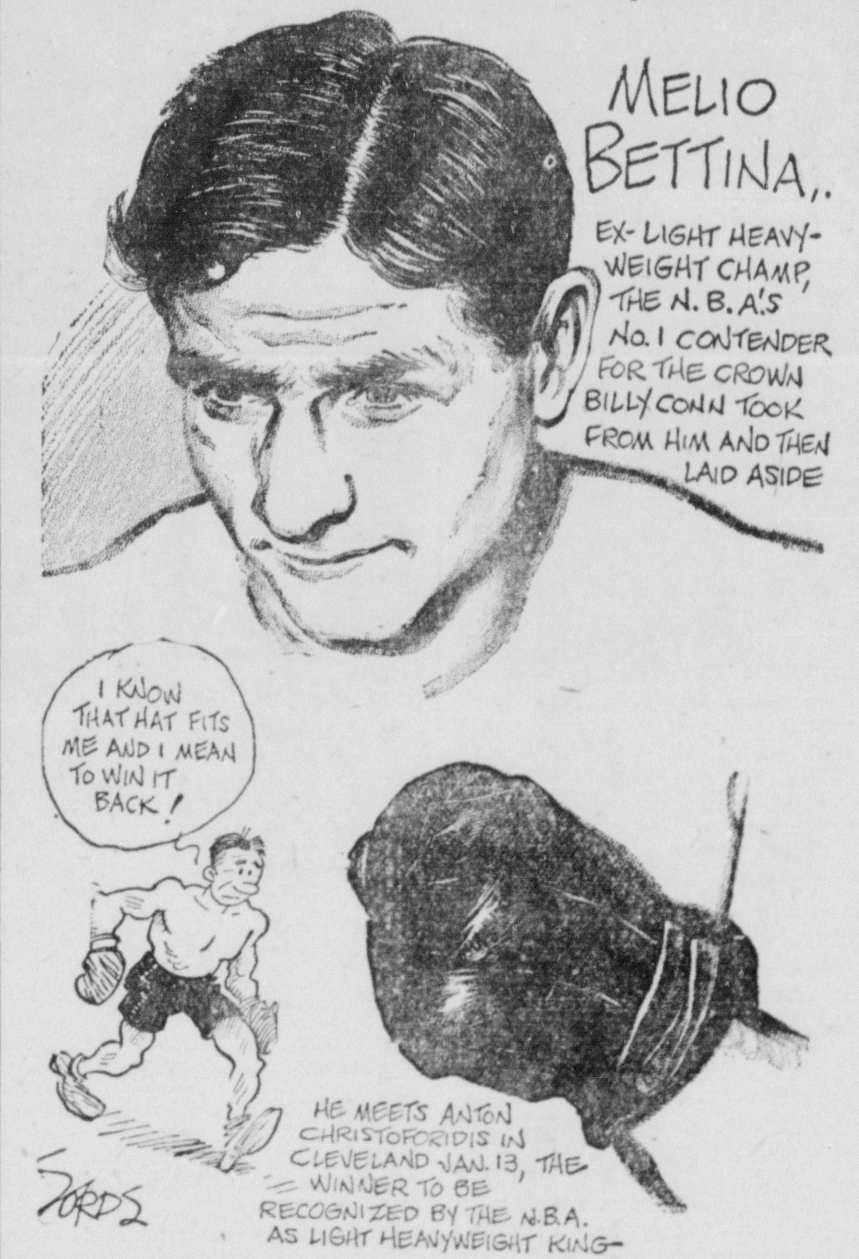

Other results were: Jim Jenison, Chillicothe, decision over John Durr, Kingston. Red Garrett, Circleville, and Melvin Thomas, Ashville, draw.

Art Organ, Logan Elm, technical knockout winner over Wayne Bretague, Meade.

KNOCKOUT FOR NOVA?

NEW YORK, Jan. 7—Manager Ray Carlen today predicted that his fighter, Lou Nova, California heavyweight who is staging a comeback, would win by a knockout in his fight with Pat Comiskey, New Jersey heavyweight, in New York next Friday night.

Pearson Addition Gives Reds Mighty Hill Staff

CINCINNATI, Jan. 7—It is generally conceded that Cincinnati has moulded together the strongest pitching staff in baseball. This staff has produced two National League championships and one world's title for the Reds. There have been many ups and downs for the members of this phenomenal staff, and when you analyze the success of the individual members prior to becoming affiliated with Bill McKeechie, you'll find things that will surprise.

For instance, prior to Bill McKeechie's move to Cincinnati, Paul Derringer, who has won 66 games the past three years, won only ten games for the Reds in 1937. Bucky Walters had a record of four victories and eight defeats when purchased from the Phillies in 1938.

Gene Thompson came up from the Class B Columbia team of the Sally League. Jim Turner won four and lost 11 for Boston in 1939, before his transfer to Cincinnati. Joe Beggs won 12 and lost 10 for the International League Bears in 1939. Whitey Moore and Johnny Vander Meer came up from the minors, with Vander Meer having an international league mark of five wins and 11 defeats in the season preceding his great successes of 1938, when he hurled two successive no hit games.

Contrast these marks to the records of 1940, under McKeechie's guidance. Walters won 22 games last year, Derringer 20, Thompson 15, Turner 14, Beggs 12, Moore 8 and Vander Meer 3.

Bill Knows Material
All of this can mean but one thing—that Bill McKeechie knows pitching material, regardless of record. And it leads to the recent addition of Monte Pearson, 31-year-old righthander from the New York Yankees. Pearson has had great years in the majors, and never has lost a world series game. He has won four, including a two-hit shutout over the Reds in the 1939 classic. However, last year Pearson won only seven games for the Bombers, had a bad back and didn't hurl the last two months of the season.

In the face of this mediocre 1939 record, and the player's injuries, McKeechie still was very anxious to get Pearson. "He's my kind of pitcher," said Bill during the negotiations, "and I want him". Those words were spoken to General Manager Warren Giles, who then completed the transaction for Pearson's purchase from the Yanks. The physical condition of the player must be okay, for Ed Barrow, of the Yankees, assured Giles that Pearson is all right. Barrow's word is enough for the Redleg chieftains. They have learned through experience that Ed tells the truth.

A sound Pearson, working for McKeechie, should fit right into the Cincinnati scheme of things. If he follows the course of the other men, he'll have a highly successful season, which is just the way Deacon Bill expects things to pan out.

The first real break came when Craig Wood, of Mamaronck, N. Y., shooting a final round of 68, came in with a total of 283—the best 72 hole score Rivera had ever seen. Wood finished about the time that Bulla rounded the 63rd hole—and the latter played his last nine knowing what he had to do to beat Wood.

Wood's 283 was good enough to take second money, $1,700, while Clayton Heafner and Ben Hogan, of Lynville, North Carolina, and White Plains, New York, were tied for third with totals of 284. One stroke back of these two came the 54-hole leader, Jimmy Thomson, and Willie Goggin, with totals of 283. Horton Smith, of Oak Park, Ill., had 286 and Denny Shute, of West Newton, Mass., had 287. Lawson Little, of San Francisco, wound up with 288 and Lloyd Mangrum, of Chicago, came next with 290.

Nova looked impressive in his five-round workout yesterday.

OHIO STATE AND ILLINI SURPRISE IN LOOP OPENER

Buckeyes Thump Wolverines After Trailing By One Point At Halftime

CHICAGO, Jan. 7—Illinois, Minnesota and Ohio State were the pace-setters today in the Big Ten basketball race following victories in opening games of the conference schedule.

The Illini furnished the biggest first night news by soundly thumping Purdue's defending champions, 49 to 34, but Minnesota, which defeated Wisconsin, 44-27, and Ohio State, which defeated Michigan, 49-39, also were impressive.

Stirring second half offensives featured all the games. Illinois trailed Purdue at halftime, 20-15, and Ohio State also was second best at halftime, when Michigan was ahead by 21-20.

Taking advantage of 15 out of 16 free throw attempts, the Bucks rallied from a 21-20 deficit at the half to win going away, as Dick Fisher and Jack McClain scored 27 points between them. The elusive Fisher, who didn't see action in the first four games of the year, scored 13 points while McClain tallied 14.

Capt. Herb Brogan with 13 points and Pim Mandler with 12 led Michigan's attack.

The Minnesota-Wisconsin battle was nip and tuck through the opening period, which ended with the Gophers having a 21-19 advantage, but in the second half Minnesota held the Badgers scoreless from the floor.

By virtue of their decisive victory over the Boilermakers, the Illini have established themselves as definite threats in the title race. They face a stiff test in their second encounter Saturday night, when Indiana's national collegiate champions, runners-up to Purdue a year ago, invade Champaign for their first league tilt.

Other games Saturday, by which time all conference fives will be in action except Chicago, pit Michigan against Purdue, Iowa against Wisconsin, and Northwestern against Ohio State.

Iowa's Hawkeyes won their seventh straight non-conference game last night from North Dakota, 43-22, and Chicago's Maroons, who will not open conference warfare until Monday, turned back Princeton in an overtime contest, 32-31.

TIGERS TANGLE WITH HURRICANE

Varsity Game To Be Under Way About 8 O'clock In C. A. C. Gym

A large crowd of basketball fans is expected to move into the C. A. C. gym Tuesday evening to watch Coach Roy Black's boys tangle with the Wilmington Hurricane. A reserve game is scheduled to start at 7:15 with the varsity contest to get under way as near 8 o'clock as possible.

The Tigers went through a lengthy workout Monday evening in preparation for the encounter, and all the boys appear to be in good shape after their two week holiday vacation.

Starting lineups are expected to be:

COUNTY RURAL RESIDENTS TURN ATTENTION TO FARMERS' WEEK

ANNUAL SESSION AT OHIO STATE TO BE JAN. 27-31

Four Hundred Of Pickaway's Farmers To Participate In Conference

BIG PROGRAM PLANNED

Speakers To Discuss Farm Role in Program Of National Defense

Nearly 400 Pickaway County farmers and agricultural representatives are expected to attend Farmers' Week, held at Ohio State University January 27 to 31.

Registration figures at the state event last year showed that 370 persons from the county attended. County Agricultural Agent F. K. Bair announced Tuesday that he expected the Pickaway delegation to be even larger this year.

George B. Crane, assistant extension director, Ohio State University, predicts there will be 14,000 on the campus for the 29th annual renewal of the event.

Mr. Crane has his fingers crossed to ward off epidemics, floods, and blizzards all of which have tried singly or in combination in previous years to hold down attendance records. Attendance in 1918 was reduced 50 percent by war and influenza, two zero days in 1934 kept away 25 percent of the prospective visitors, but a combination of zero temperature, icy roads, and floods could keep only 20 percent at home in 1936.

Information Available
Farmers' Week has become the clearing house for agricultural information and only the most unusual circumstances can prevent attendance figures going above the 1940 record of 13,174. One of the chief reasons for the rapidly mounting attendance figures is the growing number of women who attend special sessions provided for them all five days.

Mr. Crane explains the 1941 Farmers' Week will be especially important to Ohio agriculture in view of the chaotic state of world affairs. Every rural man and woman has vital economic interest in the probable trend of world affairs in the next few months.

The program committee will take to the University during the week men and women who have information about the National Defense program and of the part that farms and rural homes will have in that program. However, Farmers' Week will mix information with the entertainment provided by music, drama, and dancing quadrilles.

Exhibits Prepared
Exhibitors already have entries ready for the various shows held during the week. Most of the exhibitors in the corn and grain show at the University compete in state or national fairs so the entries are excellent in quality. Prize-winning livestock owned by Ohio State University will be on display.

A housing bureau to locate rooms for visitors again will be conducted in Townsend Hall. Complete programs will be given those who register in Townsend Hall or at registration desks in other buildings where departmental meetings are scheduled.

The hearing before the commission has been set for Thursday night.

Did These Men Harass Nazis in France?

It was revealed in New York that British motorcycle troops, forming "suicide" squadrons, have made lightning raids into occupied France during recent weeks, harassing German forces and bringing back valuable information. They are said to have been taken to France across the channel in trawlers and fishing boats. While no immediate military objective is served, the raids are said to be staged for the effect on German morale and for the capture of prisoners from whom information is elicited.

CHIMNEY CAUSE OF CHURCH FIRE

A. M. E. Structure Damaged As Blaze Breaks Out Monday Evening

Sparks from a defective chimney ignited the roof of the A. M. E. Church, South Pickaway Street, Monday at 5 p. m., resulting in an estimated damage of $25.

Rafter under the slate roof caught fire near the chimney, the flames spreading to the edges and breaking through at the cornice. Firemen worked for nearly half an hour before the fire was placed under control.

The fire was the fifth local firemen have had in the first six days of 1941.

Rev. Harry Lutz, Church Leader, Is Dead At 70

The Rev. Harry Lutz, 70, husband of the former Mary E. Smith of Circleville, and a retired Unitarian minister, died last Friday at his home in Cambridge, Mass. His widow, who survives, is a daughter of the late Albertus Smith and prior to her marriage taught for five years in Everts Public School.

The Rev. Mr. Lutz was a native of Ohio, a son of Samuel and Ellen Newhouse Lutz. He received his education in Waynesburg, Pa., College, and was admitted to the Ohio bar in 1895. He practiced law for three years and then entered the Meadville Pa., Theological School and after further study at Harvard and Divinity School was ordained at King's Chapel, Boston.

His first pastorate was at Rockland, Mass. He then served as minister in the Unitarian Churches of Belfast, Maine, and Billerica, Mass. For 11 years he served as pastor of Channing Church, Newton, Mass., and in 1921 was called to the Unitarian Church of Sanford, Maine. He then went to Norfolk, Virginia, to establish the new church society there.

Before retiring in 1936, he served the Third Congregational Society of Cambridge, Mass., during the preparation for merging into the First Church of Harvard Square.

Headed Browning Society
During the last several years, Mr. Lutz had been honorary president of the Boston Browning Society following many years of activity in that organization. He was formerly a member of the Twentieth Century Club of Boston. During his more active years, he was prominent in the Masonic Lodge. He became Past Master at Belfast, Maine, and was chaplain of the Masonic Lodge of Newton, Mass. Last year, he became an honorary member of the Corinthian Lodge of Masons of Norfolk, Va.

Mr. Lutz leaves besides his widow a sister, Mrs. Lillian L. Kraft, now of Oil City, Pa., and two sons, Robert E. Lutz, professor of chemistry at the University of Virginia and Roger A. Lutz, an assistant to the director of accounts of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

A memorial service was held at the First Church Unitarian in Cambridge, Harvard Square, at 4 p. m. Sunday.

Today, daughter Joan is in similar trouble. At the Madeira School, across the river from Washington, the girls all deposit money in a school bank, and then draw from it as needed. This is supposed to be good training in keeping accounts and the fine art of balancing a check book.

But Joan just can't make the figures come out right, has exceeded the budget.

POLITICAL CHAFF

Alf Landon did a lot better for himself in 1940 than in 1936. During the past fall he brought in several very profitable oil wells in Stafford County, Kas. . . Judging from recent reports on campaign outlays, the vaunted Hatch "purity-in-politics" Act seems about as effective as a sieve. Example: In Missouri the Republicans spent $584,780 this year as compared to $204,093 in 1936; the Democrats $155,272 as against $180,030 in 1936. Among the GOP contributions was $22,000 from the family of Joe Pew, multimillionaire Pennsylvania boss. They also gave $20,000 to the Indiana GOP. . . The movement under way in Minnesota for Farmer-Laborites and Democrats to get together on a joint ticket in 1942 is spreading to nearby Wisconsin, where leaders of the Progressive Party are urging a similar tie-up with the Democrats.

WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE

It was not supposed to be known, but President Roosevelt intervened personally to keep his old friend, William Allen White of Emporia, Kansas as head of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies — or as more popularly called, the William Allen White Committee.

Roosevelt's intervention, although unsuccessful, came after vigorous disagreement within the committee over editor White's more moderate policy of aid to Great Britain. Militant members launched a drive to replace him, and proposed as his successor President James Conant of Harvard or Lewis W. Douglas, former Budget Director.

But neither wants the post. Also, influential moderates inside the committee urged that a split with the kindly Sage of Emporia would bring public reaction against the group. This question was fought back and forth inside the executive committee for a week, and it was during this battle that Roosevelt threw his influence on the side of "Bill" White. Meanwhile, White had remained complacently at his desk in Emporia but said he would come East in late January to talk things over. At first it was agreed to postpone any decision until then. But finally more militant leaders of the committee forced the issue, insisting that White be promoted immediately to the rank of "Honorary Chairman" and Senator Ernest W. Gibson of Vermont, whose term has just expired, take his place.

AMERICA FIRST

The White committee, however, has no monopoly on civil wars. The America First Committee also is having its trouble over the question whether it should cooperate with extreme left-wing elements, appeasers and anti-democrats.

The issue has been hotly debated on the inside, and so far those who would bar appeasers and extremists appear to be on top. This was behind the dropping of Henry Ford's name from the so-called national committee, despite inside word that he might be willing to back America First up to $1,000,000.

Ford's is the third name to disappear from the national committee list. The other two, who withdrew themselves, were Oswald Garrison Villard, pacifist reformer editor of The Nation, and Lessing Rosenwald, former head of Sears, Roebuck.

Note—America First has enlarged its offices in the Chicago Board of Trade Building and has employed several publicity men at $70 a week. Apparently well heeled, the committee sends out its press releases by telegraph.

MAIL BAG

Started on August 5, the project was completed in less than the 120 days allotted, the first families moving in on November 1.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Among the congratulatory wires received by Senator Burt Wheeler on his broadcast advocating a "negotiated peace" was one from General George Van Horn Moseley, one-time much-in-the-lime-light fascist sympathizer. . . The Public Contracts Division of the Labor Department collected $180,457 in fines last year for violations of the Walsh-Healey wage-hour act. Of the total, $51,598 was collected in December, most of it from the Lane Cotton Mills. All Walsh-Healey collections go to employees of the penalized plants.

ANOTHER DRAFT ELIGIBLE OFFERS TO SERVE YEAR

Herman F. Truex, Ashville, Route 2, volunteered for a year's military service Monday, increasing the county's volunteer list to thirty-nine. His order number was 2487.

Draft board officials received notice Monday from G. D. Light, state draft director, that no men would be drawn from the county before February 6 revising previous notices that the county would be asked for 34 men on January 20.

COUNTY RURAL RESIDENTS TURN ATTENTION TO FARMERS' WEEK

ANNUAL SESSION AT OHIO STATE TO BE JAN. 27-31

Four Hundred Of Pickaway's Farmers To Participate In Conference

BIG PROGRAM PLANNED

Speakers To Discuss Farm Role In Program Of National Defense

Nearly 400 Pickaway County farmers and agricultural representatives are expected to attend Farmers' Week, held at Ohio State University January 27 to 31.

Registration figures at the state event last year showed that 370 persons from the county attended. County Agricultural Agent F. K. Bair announced Tuesday that he expected the Pickaway delegation to be even larger this year.

George B. Crane, assistant extension director, Ohio State University, predicts there will be 14,000 on the campus for the 29th annual renewal of the event.

Mr. Crane has his fingers crossed to ward off epidemics, floods, and blizzards all of which have tried singly or in combination in previous years to hold down attendance records. Attendance in 1918 was reduced 50 percent by war and influenza, two zero days in 1934 kept away 25 percent of the prospective visitors, but a combination of zero temperature, icy roads, and floods could keep only 20 percent at home in 1936.

Information Available

Farmers' Week has become the clearing house for agricultural information and only the most unusual circumstances can prevent attendance figures going above the 1940 record of 13,174. One of the chief reasons for the rapidly mounting attendance figures is the growing number of women who attend special sessions provided for them all five days.

Mr. Crane explains the 1941 Farmers' Week will be especially important to Ohio agriculture in view of the chaotic state of world affairs. Every rural man and woman has vital economic interest in the probable trend of world affairs in the next few months.

The program committee will take to the University during the week men and women who have information about the National Defense program and of the part that farms and rural homes will have in that program. However, Farmers' Week will mix information with the entertainment provided by music, drama, and dancing quadrilles.

Exhibits Prepared

Exhibitors already have entries ready for the various shows held during the week. Most of the exhibitors in the corn and grain show at the University compete in state or national fairs so the entries are excellent in quality. Prize-winning livestock owned by Ohio State University will be on display.

A housing bureau to locate rooms for visitors again will be conducted in Townsend Hall. Complete programs will be given those who register in Townsend Hall or at registration desks in other buildings where departmental meetings are scheduled.
